TIMES' EXPLOSION CAUSE OF ARREST

Official of Structural Workers' Association Charged With Murder.

WRECKED LOS ANGELES PLANT

John J. McNamara Arrested by Detectives in Indianapolis—Beginning of Great Criminal Prosecution is Claim.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 22.—Charged with murder in connection with the explosion that wrecked the building of the Los Angeles Times on October 1, 1910, causing the death of 21 persons, John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was arrested late today in the headquarters of the organization in this city.

The warrant for his arrest was based on an indictment found by a grand jury in Los Angeles and was served by William J. Burns, a detective accompanied by Indianapolis detectives. Burns said he would start tonight for Los Angeles with McNamara, Governor Marshall having honored requisition papers.

Responsibility for other destructive explosions in different parts of the country would be placed as the result of an investigation now in progress, Burns said. He added that J. B. McNamara, brother of John J. McNamara, and Otto McGonogle were today detained by the police in Chicago as having knowledge of the circumstances of the Los Angeles Times' explosion. "This is the beginning of one of the greatest criminal prosecutions the country has known," Burns said.

After the arrest of McNamara, Burns and other detectives searched the offices of the association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers and detained there other officials of the association during examination of papers and records. When the detectives entered the offices a meeting of the executive board of the organization was in progress.

The detectives declined to say whether or not they had collected evidence against McNamara in their examination of the association's papers.

The warrant against McNamara charges him with murder in complicity in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building and further alleges he was implicated in an explosion in the Llewellyn Iron Works, Los Angeles, December 14, 1910. Detective Burns, in a statement after the arrest of McNamara, said further developments were expected to disclose the perpetrators of explosions directed against employers in this city, in Omaha, Neb., Columbia, Ind., and other places.

Detective Burns, Superintendent of Police Hyland and Chief of Detectives Holtse tonight found 17 sticks of dynamite and two quart cans of nitroglycerine in a barn near here owned by T. H. Jones, a structural iron worker, which Jones says was placed there last January by McNamara.

In searching the basement of the building where the union's offices are located tonight the officers found 64 sticks (about 60 pounds) of dynamite, 200 feet of fuse, 500 dynamite caps, one dozen small alarm clocks and a leather case made to carry a ten-pound can of nitro glycerine.

Burns says Otto McConigle, who was arrested in Detroit yesterday, told him where these explosives could be found and it was upon this information that the search was made tonight. The dynamite and nitroglycerine were found buried under sawdust in the barn.

Jones, the owner of the barn, said the explosives were placed there last January and that McNamara and other men made various trips to the barn with suit cases, but he did not know the purpose of their visits. Jones says that McNamara rented the barn and paid him $25 a month for its use. It is situated about three-quarters of a mile west of the city.

On Way to Los Angeles.

Chicago, April 22.—J. B. McNamara and Otto McGonigle, charged by Detective William J. Burns with having knowledge of the circumstances of the explosion of the Los Angeles Times were brought here today from Detroit where they were arrested yesterday. They were turned over to the chief of police and a detective of Los Angeles and left tonight for Los Angeles.

The men were arrested by Detectives Reed and Biddinger, of the police department, who were assigned three weeks ago to aid Burns in his search for the men.

As Viewed at Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 22.—The arrest at Indianapolis tonight of John J. McNamara, secretary and treasurer of the International Association of Bridge Structural Iron Workers for alleged complicity in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building on October 1, 1910, and the consequent loss of 21 lives, was made on instructions from the District Attorney of Los Angeles county. These arrests are the first that have been made since the grand jury, after several weeks of investigation and the examination of many witnesses, returned 23 indictments against persons alleged to have been concerned in the disaster.

DEMOCRATS TO END DISPUTE

May Arbitrate Hopeless Tangle Between Republican Factions in Senate—Unprecedented Situation—Features.

Washington, April 22.—The Democrats of the Senate may be called upon to abitrate the differences between the Republican "regulars" and "progressives" over the question of committee assignments.

This unprecedented situation was freely predicted tonight fallowing the adjournment of a meeting of the Republican Committee on Committees of th Senate, at which the demands of the "progressives" for the right to dictate one-fourth of the Republican members on all committees was again turned down. It is said that the progressives will appeal to the Senate from the assignments of the Committee on Committees and in this way the Democrats will be called in to settle the difficulty.

Neither of the Republican factions is disposed to shirk the responsibility of the situation. If the dispute gets into the hands of Democratic senators, however, it is predicted that the result may be far more consequential than the mere straightening out of the committee tangles. The snarl in the Senate would be such that no one could forecast the legislative results of the session.

Just what action the Democrats would take as arbitrators in the committee dispute is speculative. A number of them are known to sympathize strongly with the insurgents, while many others unquestionably would vote to sustain party regularity. As a result the situation tonight seems almost hopelessly complicated.

At today's meeting a resolution adopted yesterday, which provided for the organization of the committees in alphabetical order was re-considered and Senator Gallinger, as chairman of the committee was instructed to bring in a tentative list of assignments. But this action was not taken without strenuous opposition from the progressives who still insisted upon their right to designate their representatives on all the committees. When they were voted down, the progressives retired from the committee room. The principal contention in the Committee on Committees is over the assignments to the Committees on Appropriations, Finance, Postoffice and Post Roads, Judiciary and Foreign Relations. The progressives contend that they were promised two members of the finance committee in advance of the organization of the Gallinger committee and they are especially anxious to have this pledge carried out.

GOVERNMENT WINS POINT.

Decision Handed Down In So-Called "Bath-Tub Trust" Case.

Philadelphia, April 22.—The Federal government won a point in the so-called "bath-tub" case today in a decision handed down by the United States Circuit Court in proceedings brought by the Caldwell Lead Co., one of the defendants in the government's case against the so-called "trust."

The Lead Company at a hearing conducted by a government examiner in this city sought to prove that it took no part in the "trust" conspiracy alleged by the government. In support of its convention, the Lead Company called witnesses who are co-defendants in the prosecution brought by the government. Edwin J. Grosvenor, special assistant to the United States attorney general instructed the witnesses that under their constitutional rights they could refuse to answer any question that might tend to incriminate them.

Dissention arose and resulted in consul for the Lead Company making application to the court to compel the witnesses to answer. In overruling the motion the court held "that it was not the intention of Congress in passing the immunity act ofr the enforcement of the provisions of the Sherman law, either in civil or criminal proceedings to extend immunity to defendants called as witnesses by co-defendants to testify in the latter's behalf so that the motion to compel the witnesses to answer is overruled.

NEW CHAIR AT PRINCETON.

Geo. B. McClellan, Former New York Mayor, Accepts Professorship.

New York, April 22.—Princeton's trustees have agreed to establish a chair of public affairs at the institution and George B. McClellan, former mayor of New York, will accept the professorship, the Herald will say tomorrow. Admirers of Mr. McClellan started the movement some time ago and have now raised the desired fund of $50,000 toward which J. P. Morgan is understood to have contributed $12,000. With the money raised and the trustees support assured, Mr. McClellan, who is in Rome, was notified and, according to the Herald, cabled his acceptance today.

CAROLINA GIRL LUCKY.

Found Check and Bottle Washed Up From the Sea.

Pittsburg, April 22.—A check enclosed in a bottle and thrown into the sea from a vessel off the coast of the Carolinas by a Pittsburger, March 18, just to see if it would turn up again was received by the Lincoln National Bank this week. The check was for $1 and was made out to "Bearer." Pearl Estheridge, 11-year-old girl, of Kitty Hawk, N. C., found the bottle near Kill Devils Hill on the sea coast, April 12, and sent the check to the bank and the money was forwarded to her.

STRIPLING DENIED PARDON FOR CRIME

Former Danville, Va., Police Chief Must Serve Term in Georgia.

ACTION OF GOVERNOR BROWN

Expressed Sympathy for Slayer's Family and Relates Details of Case. Re-Captured After 14 Years' Liberty.

Atlanta, Ga., April 22.—In denying the application for pardon filed by Thomas Edgar Stripling, former police chief of Danville, Va., under sentence of life imprisonment for the murder of William J. Cornett, Governor Brown, in a review of the case made public tonight, excoriates the "unwritten" law which Stripling pleaded in justification of his act, a euphemism, presenting, when unmasked, "the hideous feature of anarchy."

"One of the most dangerous evils menacing our institutions is lawlessness," declares the governor.

"The mob executing in wild disorder its victim and the individual wreaking his own revenge for wrongs, real or imaginary, the man of interest treating with contempt the laws of the land and trusting to gold or 'influence' for safety, are striking manifestations of this spirit of lawlessness."

While expressing profound sympathy for Stripling's family and high respect for the impulses which prompted his friends to apply for a pardon for him, Governor Brown says that sympathy and personal friendship have no right to supplant an oath bound duty to execute the laws of Georgia.

"Above the rolling tide and obscurity fog of sympathetic pleas and emotions we cannot fail to see the rock of the record which shows that Thomas Edgar Stripling by a jury of his peers, was convicted of the murder of a fellow man," continues the governor, "that he afterward violated a second law of Georgia by breaking jail and fleeing to another State, and that, enmeshed in the complications of his crime, his own brother-in-law, Terrell Huff, was sent to the penitentiary, within which he was confined at hard labor, until, through doubts as to his guilt, he was set free on recommendation of the prison commission. I greatly regret, therefore, that under the conditions I do not feel justified in interrupting in this case the due process of law."

Governor Brown discusses Stripling's life after he broke jail in 1897, and does not find it sufficiently spotless to entitle him to a pardon and continued liberty as his friends had hoped.

"Not one man in several hundred kills one man," says the governor.

"Not one man in 5,000 kills two men, and intentionally wounds another, and, while an officer of the law, is fined once for opprobrious language (profanity) and once for violence, toward yet another man. But this is Stripling's record since he killed Cornett. I do not say that he was not within the scope of his duties in each of the tragic incidents marking his career since he fled from this State; but I submit that they impair the power to claim that his life in Virginia is above suspicion and per se entitles him to a pardon in Georgia."

Mrs. Stripling Talks.

Danville, Va., April 22.—When seen tonight by a representative of the Associated Press Mrs. Stripling was inclined to be reticent.

"What are your plans for the future?" she was asked.

"Well, I don't know that I care to make them public at present."

"Do you expect to continue to reside in Danville?"

"Yes, but don't see where that concerns you," she replied.

"Were you surprised at the action of the governor in refusing a pardon?"

"Well, yes, we fully expected the recommendation of the pardon board would be carried out."

"We own our little home in Danville and will, as far as I know at present, continue to live in this city."

Mrs. Stripling stated that she and the entire family had just returned from Georgia and Alabama where they spent several weeks visiting old friends and that the sentiment in those sections was favorable to her husband.

NEW CHARTERS YESTERDAY.

One of Them for New County of Hoke. Others Granted.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 22.—The Hoke Realty & Trust Co., Raeford, Hoke county, was chartered today with $50,000 capital authorized and $5,000 subscribed by J. W. Morre, Raeford. The Greensboro Security Co., and others. The Oxford Water Co., and the Oxford Electric Co., each with $15,000 capital by R. C. M. Colvert, C. F. Nesbit and others were also chartered today for an electric light and power and water company business in Oxford. M. Stacy and others.

MILD SENSATION IN THE NAVY

Secretary Meyer Disapproved Findings of Court of Inquiry Acquitting Capt. Austin Knight—Sinking of Puritan.

Washington, April 22.—The court of seven read admirals, which tried Captain Austin M. Knight, United States navy, on charges of "culpable negligence and inefficiency in the performance of duty" in connection with the ordnance tests on the monitor Puritan, has re-affirmed its original verdict of complete and honorable acquittal, but Secretary of the Navy Meyer has disapproved the findings. The officer has been restored to duty however, and the action relieves him of arrest and formally terminates his trial.

The conclusion of the case with the Secretary's disapproval of the verdict created a mild sensation among officers of the Navy. The notable court headed by Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, which tried the accused, held its sessions at be Norfolk Navy Yard and rendered its original verdict several weeks ago. After an exhaustive examination of the record by the legal and executive officials of the War Department the Secretary announced today the Department became satisfied that the evidence of the trial proved all the specifications cited against the officer. The Secretary thereupon referred the case back to the court for re-consideration. The review of the court, however, killed the charge the opinion of the court and consequently the verdict of acquittal stands.

Captain Knight is the senior captain of the Navy by his acquittal and restoration to duty, and he will probably be promoted to the rank of rear admiral as soon as a vacancy occurs. His trial has delayed his rise to the higher rank, for had he not been court martialed he would have been appointed a rear admiral in January.

The ordnance tests on the Puritan out of which the trial grew, were held in Hampton Roads last November to carry out the instructions of Congress. Two charges of explosive gelatin, of 200 pounds each, were exploded against the turret and side armor of the vessel, ripping big holes and sinking her. Later, however, she floated for 22 hours, according to the report of a Court of Inquiry appointed to investigate the sinking of the vessel. This Court of Inquiry placed the blame upon Captain Knight and the Secretary thereupon ordered his court martial. Further than this the report of the Court of Inquiry has never been made public.

The vessel now lies in the mud of Hampton Roads with a wrecking company endeavoring to raise her.

DEATH OF MR. STREET.

Well Known Citizen of Goldsboro Passes Away in Georgia.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Goldsboro, N. C., April 22.—A telegram this afternoon from Valdosta, Ga., brings the intelligence of the sudden death in that city of Mr. J. J. Street, formerly of this city. Mr. Street with his late father-in-law, Mr. J. Strauss, founded the Goldsboro rice mill here and subsequently the Goldsboro Lumber Co., which he afterwards moved to Dover, where it is still located, although now under other ownership. He afterwards, with the money he received from the sale of his interest in the Goldsboro Lumber Co., established the extensive Acme Machine Works here, in which venture he lost more than $30,000, and after the plant went into liquidation, he moved to Norfolk and thence to Valdosta, Ga., where he died yesterday. He is survived by his wife, and a large family of children. The remains will be brought to this city for interment.

Richmond, Va., April 2.—It was announced today that the Rev. W. Russell Bowie, of Greenwood, Va., has accepted the rectorship of St. Paul's Episcopal church, this city, to which he was recently called. He will assume his new duties next Fall.

New York, April 22.—Mericus, the Baltimore wrestler, defeated Yankee Rogrs in two straight falls, catch-as-can, at the St. Nicholas rink tonight. The first fall came in 4 minutes, 39 seconds, and the second in 33 minutes, 15 seconds.

PEACE IN MEXICO APPEARS CERTAIN

Favorable Reply from Government Follows Agreement of Madero.

DIAZ SETS AMERICANS FREE

Members of Peace Mission Declare That Revolution is As Good as Ended—Madero Asks for A "Square Deal" for People.

El Paso, Texas, April 22.—Members of the Peace Mission tonight declared that the revolution in Mexico is as good as ended.

General Francisco I Madero agreed to an armistice providing the government would rest all military operations, and a favorable reply from the city of Mexico is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

General Navarro, in advance of official orders, released the three United States citizens who have been prisoners for some time—Blatt, Converse and Brown—from the Juarez jail. These men had been confined there for eight weeks for alleged participation in the revolution.

The peace envoys met with General Madero in a small adobe house just across the river from the smelter and the latter repeated to them his statement, earlier given to the Associated Press, that he does not insist upon the resignation of President Diaz as essential to negotiations for peace. Thus the keystone of the arch of opposition to end the revolution dropped from its place.

General Madero said all he will insist upon, in addition to the reforms already instituted is that the people of Mexico shall have a "square deal" as provided in the constitution. It is known that many facts hitherto unknown to General Madero were imparted to him. He has, it is said, been in almost complete ignorance of what was going on in the outside world for more than a month. Every indication points tonight to peace. Tomorrow it is expected a modus operandi will be discussed and possibly adopted. It is also improbable that the City of Mexico and General Madero will negotiate through the peace delegates, Rafael Hernandez, who in an unofficial way represents the government, although he is a nephew of Francisco Madero, Sr., and Ernesto Padero, brother of Francisco I. Madero, who is not a revolutionist, and really is the guiding spirit of the present negotiations.

By working through this body, which has the advantage of being on the ground, the government may avoid the recognition of the revolution which the appointment official commissioners would imply. General Madero is not inclined to stick on the point of official recognition. He realizes that virtually he has it anyway.

It is regarded as probable that General Madero has a pledge that reforms will be continued, and that here will be no prosecution of revolutionists, will be offered and will accept the position of vice president, which office will presently be resigned by Corral, at present on leave.

In States where elections are due, as in Sonora, it is assured that complete suffrage will be allowed. This will allow the election of local ficials whose appointment by the Federal government has been one of the principle complaints against General Diaz.

Agrees to An Armistice.

Washington, April 22.—After an extended series of unofficial conference, including the overtures of many go-betweens, General Francisco I Madero, Jr., acknowledged leader of the insurrection, today formally used Dr. Vasquez Gomez his diplomatic representative in the United States to consummate the armistice with the Federal government, which in the last few days had been urged by mutual friends. The armistice idea has met with the approval of the main government and is a preliminary step to peace negotiations designed to adjust various differences out of which the revolution grew. The conditions of the armistice include chiefly the immediate suspension of hostilities as well as the discontinuance of troop movements, the establishment of a definite period during which the trace is to be effective, the zone to be comprehended by it and the permission for both sides to secure food supplies and free telegraphic communication.

While the policy of the United States towards events on the border has not yet been clearly defined, the general opinion in official circles today was that the amicable settlement of the main revolution would in a great measure relieve the United States from the necessity of making any more move in response to the various protests of American citizens as to the danger of border warfare.

It was inferred that an effort was being made by Dr. Gomez as the agent of the revolutionist party and the Mexican ambassador as the representative of the Federal government, to negotiations by the possible cry oof "triumph" or "victory" for either ide which it was considered might arise in the aftermath of the situation.

For this reason neither side admitted taking the initiative in the armistice proposals.

No Haste in Meico.

Mexico City, April 22.—While Madero has agreed to the proposition for an armistice Mexico has displayed no haste to announce conformity. Here it is regarded that Madero has now placed the government in the position he has occupied for so long. If there is to be a cessation of hostilities, even temporarily, the government must send orders to its troops to hold their positions. That this will be done is probable, but tonight no official could be found who would go so far as to admit that the government would agree to an armistice. It is probable that the government will maintain its attitude of refusing to admit by entering into an agreement the belligerency of the revolutionists.

A NEAR-SUICIDE IN DURHAM

Shot Himself Through Lung at Hotel There Yesterday Afternoon—Love Affair Thought to be the Cause.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Durham, N. C., April 22.—Malcolm Arnold, a representative of a Norfolk real estate business, in this city, shot a hole through his left lung this afternoon at a local hotel, after having a pleasant chat with the daughter of the landlady with whom, it is said, he is in love.

When the bullet pierced his body the young man fell gasping at the head of the stairs, and when medical aid reached him, he was pleading for some one to kill him and end his despair, but a few moments later he was pleading as earnestly for some one to save him. Between gasps, he muttered the names of two girls, one of whom he talked with only a few moments before.

The hotel authorities decided that there had been no event leading up to the shooting. About 2 o'clock the young man came to the hotel parlors and asked to see the young lady and soon after she came in, they stood chatting together for a few minutes and the mother of the girl entered the room and suggested that they cease their conversation. The young lady walked out and a few minutes later the shot was heard. The two were friends several years ago, but their relations had ceased and they saw each other more by accident than appointment. Arnold seemed to be desperate this morning and last night remarked to a friend "how nice it would be to end it all now." While it is generally believed that one or more girls were the cause of the rash deed, there were probably other reasons. To a minister he spoke despairingly this morning, and to his brother, Rev. R. I. Arnold, of Trinity Park School, he confided his desperation for a girl.

Arnold is in the Watts Hospital here and doctors think that he has a fighting chance for life, though he is very seriously wounded.

NORFOLK CLUB RAIDED.

Twenty Men Arrested and Property Seized Last Night.

Norfolk, Va., April 22.—For the second time within three weeks, the Hankins' Pleasure Club, located in Granby street, was raided tonight by the police. Fourteen patrolmen and detectives participated in the raid and besides a quantity of alleged gambling paraphernalia such as poker chips, cards and card tables, twenty men were carried to police headquarters. William Lintz, Nicholas Albano, C. W. Dant, officers of the club were in the place when the raid was made.

Fifteen hundred people stood in the street and watched the police bring out the men and paraphernalia. Two policemen climbed to the roof of the building and caught two men, who were trying to make their escape.

NEGRO SLAIN BY POSSE.

Riddled With Bullets for Threatening Farmer's Wife.

Statesboro, Ga., April 22.—An unknown negro was shot in the northern part of Bullock county yesterday and killed by a posse after he had entered the home of Mitchell Hendricks, a farmer and with a shot gun threatened to kill Hendricks' wife. Mrs. Hendricks escaped through a window shortly before her husband returned to the house and the latter, seeing the negro come out with a shotgun, slipped to the rear and secured a gun. On seeing him the negro rushed to an outhouse and locking himself in, declared he would kil anyone who approached. Neighbors who were called to the scene hid behind trees and when the negro finally came out in answer to a summons, he was instantly shot down. No arrests have been made.

LATE CONFIRMATION SERVICE.

Delayed at Norfolk on Account of Church Dispute.

Norfolk, Va., April 22.—Arrangements were today made for the confirmation service at Christ Episcopal church which was to have occurred on Palm Sunday, and called off because of the difference between the rector, Rev. Dr. Steinmetz, and Bishop Randolph, of the Southern Virginia diocese.

Bishop Tucker, co-adjutor of the diocese, who was to have administered the rite on the original date will preach at Christ church April 30th, and then confirm the awaiting class of fifty.

Bishop Randolph still refuses to permit return to "high church ritualism at Christ church."

THE PEOPLE WIN IN RAILROAD CASE

The Corporation Commission Grants Additional Train Service on W. & W.

EXTEND NORFOLK SHOO-FLY

Chairman McNeill Dissents to Schedule—End of Long Fight Affecting All of Eastern Carolina—Effective May 15th.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., April 22.—Wilmington, Goldsboro and intermediate territory get from the Corporation Commission an order for additional train service effective May 15th, Commissioners Brown and Lee signing the order for the additional train and Chairman Franklin McNeill issuing a dissenting opinion in which he insists that the train required in the order is not what is needed and setting out that he is willing to join in an order for trains running at more reasonable hours for local service.

The order by Commissioners Brown and Lee calls for the extension of the run of the Norfolk-Goldsboro shoo-fly on to Wilmington, leaving Goldsboro at 9:55 P. M., after arrival from Norfolk, reaching Wilmington around 12 o'clock, and next morning the trains leaves Wilmington at 4 A. M., arriving Goldsboro in time to connect with Southern Train No. 21, for Raleigh, Durham and Greensboro, and enabling Wilmington passengers to reach Asheville at 7 P. M.; also a new connection for Rocky Mount Kinston and other points.

The order culminates successfully a long drawn-out fight that has been waged before the Commission since the early days of the last Legislature before which was pending a bill by Representative R. L. Carr, of Duplin, to repeal the service. Traveling and business men and the morning newspaper, which has been discriminated against for years in the matter of this service, took up the fight at Wilmington, seconding a movement already started by the Goldsboro Chamber of Commerce and the new train is the result. The order will be hailed with delight all over the Eastern section of the State. The majority ruling in the case is written by Commissioner H. C. Brown, and is heartily concurred in by Commissioner Lee, the chairman of the body, admitting the need of better service, but dissenting as to the schedule. The order by Commissioner Brown is a very able paper and reviews at length the entire proceedings. After quoting the petitions and representations of the petitioners, the order is as follows:

For convenience of parties and after due notice, the case was assigned for hearing at Goldsboro on the 20th day of February, 1911.

Petitioners were represented by M. W. Allen, Esq., J. O. Carr, Esq., and J. D. Langston, Esq., attorneys; and respondent by Geo. B. Elliott, Esq., assistant general counsel; W. R. Newell, general superintendent; W. J. Craig, passenger traffic manager, and W. R. Sullivan, assistant to the president.

Delegations of citizens from various towns between Goldsboro and Wilmington were present to give testimony, many of whom were examined. Stenographic report of the evidence is taken down and is on record in the case.

Petitioners contend that it is practicable; that the necessities and conveniences of the traveling public demand additional train service between Wilmington and Goldsboro. That is, that respondent's train No. 91 arriving in Goldsboro at 9:55 P. M. extend its run from Goldsboro to Wilmington or that passenger service be given from Goldsboro after 9:55 P. M. to Wilmington and intermediate points. That passenger tran ervice be given leaving Wilmington about 4:00 A. M. and arriving in Goldsboro at about 6:45 A. M. and in time to make connection with No. 21 Southern railway train going West and No. 90 of respondent road leaving Goldsboro at 7:00 A. M. for Rocky Mount and Norfolk.

It is found that there are only two passenger train operated daily between Wilmington and Goldsboro each twenty-four hours:

No. 48 leaving Wilmington at 8:40 A. M.

No. 42 leaving Wilmington at 7:00 P. M.

No. 41 leaving Goldsboro at 6:40 A. M.

No. 49 leaving Goldsboro at 2:59 P. M.

That it is impossible for a passenger at any point between Wilmington and Goldsboro to leave home and go beyond Goldsboro East, West or North and return same day; that a passenger arriving at Goldsboro from any point East, West or North of Goldsboro after 3 o'clock P. M., and desiring to go to Wilmington, has to stay in Goldsboro until the following day; that it is impossible to come to Raleigh, the capital of the State, and return the same day.

That the establishment of this train

INTER-COLLEGIATE MEET.

Carolina Took Seven Out of 13 First Places at Charlottesville.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Charlottesville, Va., April 22.—The Southern Inter-collegiate track meet was held here today, Virginia, Carolina and Washington and Lee colleges competing. The track was slow and very sloppy, due to the rain and hail which fell during the meet. Coach Cartmell, of Carolina, brought only eight men and this bunch of Tar Heels made records of which they may be justly proud. They did not win the meet, but they took seven of the 13 first places. Virginia had too many men to compete for second, third and fourth places. They entered two, three or four men in every event, while Carolina, with one exception, entered only one. Carolina had no entries in the broad and high jump, so she took seven first places in the 11 events which she entered. Coach Cartmell may be proud of his boys.

Winston ran his usual style and got first place in the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash. Hoffman showed the boys some of Stanton's time on the quarter-mile and also took first in the half-mile. Patterson lowered his former record in the two-mile. Spence got second in the mile but he made excellent time about 4:35. Ruffin was beaten in the high hurdles only by a very close margin. Barker was also beaten by the break of the tape in the low hurdles. Parsley did not have to do much vaulting, the others dropped out at 8 1-2 feet. Atkinson scored in the shot-put with third place and while it was hailing he took first place in the hemmer throw, turning only one time.

COLLEGE PLAYER DEBARRED.

From Playing at Holy Cross for Signing With Professionals.

Worcester, Mass., April 22.—For signing a contract with the Cincinnati team of the National League, Capt. Daniel Mahoney, shortstop of the Holy Cross team, was debarred by the college authorities today from further baseball playing at Holy Cross. Mahoney will probably go to Cincinnati within a week.

WILMINGTON BAYS VICTORS.

Defeated Goldsboro Team in Both Games Yesterday—Large Crowds.

Urged on by the cheers of almost the entire student body of the High School and by the largest crowd that ever witnessed an amateur game of baseball in Wilmington, the High School boys met the team from Goldsboro High School and captured both games of a double-header at League park yesterday afternoon. This closes the season for the High School team. Members of the local team and their friends were jubilant over the result. The games were both much above the average of amateur teams. Features of the game were the splendid pitching of Blue, for the locals, who allowed only four hits in both games and struck out twelve men, and the batting of Snead, who made his debut in center field. Morris was in the box for the visitors during the first game and did good work, and a feature of the game was a beautiful drive by Smith.

The first game was played in one hour and ten minutes. By agreement only five innings were played in the second game. The score in the first was 2 to 0 and in the second 2 to 1, the visitors having sent one man over the plate in the fifth inning. Runs for Wilmington in the first game were made by Burnett and Stein, and in the second by Alderman and Blue. Sasser made the only run for Goldsboro.

First game:
Goldsboro .. ....000 0000 000—0 3 5
Wilmington .. ..000 2.0 00x—2 3 0
Second game:
Goldsboro .. ..000 01—1 1 1
Wilmington .. ..200 0x—2 2 2

BIG BOWLING CONTEST.

Montreal Club Wins the Ocean to Ocean Trophy.

New York, April 22.—The Montreal Athletic Club won the Thompson ocean-to-ocean bowling trophy by one pin in the inter-city contest tonight. Ten cities participated. Montreal's score was 2,814 and that of the New York Athletic Club 2813. Cleveland Athletic Club was third with 2745; the Chicago Athletic Association fourth with 2,678; Illinois Athletic Club fifth, 2,660; Denver Athletic Club sixth; Pittsburg A. A., seventh; Crescent A. C., Brooklyn, eighth; Mutnomah A. C., Portland, Ore., ninth, and the Seattle A. C., tenth.

Nine telegraph operators with direct wires received the return at the New York Athlectic Club, and a crowd watched the bulletin board.

The teams were composed of five men and each team bowled three games on its home alley, the total score to count. Shortly before midnight, all the returns were in and the judges announced Montreal the winner. To Montreal, therefore, goes a handsome trophy presented by Col. Robert M. Thompson, the new president of the New York Athletic Club.

JUNIOR TEAM ORGANIZED.

Members of the City League Getting in Trim for Season.

As the time draws near for the beginning of the City Baseball League interest grows apace and by the time the mayor of the city throws the first ball over the plate May 6th, interest will be at fever heat. All the teams are whipping their men into shape and each one says the pennant belongs to his team, and every team has pictured the beautiful cup donated by the Tidewater Power Co., in their trophy gallery.

There is still a great deal of work to be done on the grounds at the Driving Park, but those who know say that it will be on a par with any diamond in the South. The grandstand will be as up-to-date and will accommodate more than 800 people.

The Junior League was organized last night at the Y. M. C. A. and will begin their season the 9th of May. They will play two games during the week after 6 o'clock.

TRAVIS AGAIN WINNER.

Old "War Horse" at Golf Takes Victory from Herreshof.

Lakewood, N. J., April 22.—The old "War Horse," Walter J. Travis, of Garden City, today won from Fred Herreshof, the metropolitan champion, in the final round of the open golf tournament of the Lakewood Country Club. The finish was sensational, for the rivals had holed out all square on the home green.

That meant an extra hole which is 340 yeards and a good four at any time. Both made the green on their second, but Travis promptly settled the dispute by running down a long put for 3. The best Herreshof could get was four.

SAM GANTT LOSES.

"The Mighty" Goes Down Before Georgia Techs in Atlanta.

Durham, N. C., April 22.—With Sam Gantt in the box, Trinity today lost to the Georgia Techs, at Atlanta, by the score of 4 to 1. Gantt kept his hits well scattered, and none of the runs was earned. With bases full and no outs in the fifth he allowed no scoring.

Trinity .. ..100 000 000—1

Sam Gantt and Maddox; Calhoun and Hill; struck out by Gantt 2; Calhoun 6; bases on balls Gantt 2; Calhoun 3.

WORLD'S RECORD SMASHED.

Made by Bob Burman at Daytonia, Fla., Yesterday.

Daytonia, Fla., April 22.—Two world's records went to smash here today when Bob Burman hurled a 200-horse power Blitzen Ben racing automobile a mile on the beach in remarkable time of 26.12 seconds and again when he went a kilometer in 16:27 seconds. Both records had previously been held by Barney Oldfield, the mile at 27:33 seconds and the kilometer at 17:04 seconds.

..Theatrical..

Grand Theatre.

There is no use of us boasting what features the Grand possesses. It leads in ventilation, singing, and music. The management has just installed two more exhaust fans in the rear of the building, which will keep the temperature at 70 degrees. There is not another photoplay theatre anywhere that has more comforts than you get in the Grand. Ask those who visit our place and they will tell you that there is no place like the Grand for an hour's pasttime and amusement The past week has been a most successful one and they have seated hundreds and hundreds of people, and when they passed out you could see the smile of satisfaction on every face. Monday is the beginning of another week and they will present three more feature reels; in fact, every picture shown would grace an ordinary theatre as a feature. The orchestra consists of thoroughly trained musicians, and every one is a master of his instrument, and is a great feature, especially the effects that are played while the pictures are on. The vocalist at the Grand, Mr. Baldwin, is no doubt making a hit from the encores he receives every day. Monday he has selected another late song hit, and will sing with his usual grace and style. Don't let the small admission price let you miss this show. The doors open at 2 P. M. and the show continues until 11 P. M.

Joyland.

Monday will usher in another big week at the "little theatre around the corner," on Market street, and the management have some rare treats to put before their patrons the coming week. Monday will be a feature day, and will consist of high-class comedy, drama and scenic productions from the leading motion picture manufacturers of the world. Mr. Reilly has a big song hit for Monday, entitled "Take Me Back to Baby Land." This is one of the latest New York opera successes and will undoubtedly score as big a success in Wilmington.

The Crystal Palace.

Four acts will open the coming week's programme at the Crystal Palace, with several select photo-plays added. The artistic Miss Sadie O'Neill, known as the California Nightingale, will render several of the latest melodies. Funny Billy Osmond, who has been making whole cities laugh, will handle the comedy part of the performance. As a black-face comedian, combining with his songs and monologues several minutes of eccentric dancing, he is unexcelled. Vaudeville's favorite child-artist, "Little Audrey"—six years of age—is a unique little entertainer, singing from a repertoire of over 50 popular songs.

As a novelty and different from anything presented in the past, the Shrier boys will give an exhibition of scientific boxing. This act has been a hit wherever it has been pulled off. The brothers were trained by Battling Nelson and are champions of their weight. Features Monday are both excellent dramas. Regular matinees at 3:30, 4:30 and 7:30 continuous to 11 P. M.

IOWA WON RIFLE SHOOT.

Defeated Massachusetts in Inter-Collegiate Rifle Shoot.

Washington, April 22.—The State University of Iowa Rifle Team won the inter-collegiate rifle shooting championship of the United States by the narrow margin of one point from Massachusetts Agricultural College in the 15th week's shoot, the two teams having been tied for first place with 14 wins and no defeats when they came together in at last match. Iowa scored 1891 points to Massachusetts 1890. Cornell and Washington State tied for third place. Columbia won the special trophy for non-military colleges, defeating Dartmouth by one match.

LONDON CHESS CLUB WINS.

Captured Thirteenth International Cable Match in New York.

New York, April 22.—The city of London Chess Club today won permanent possession of the Newnes trophy inaugurated in 1896, by capturing the 13th international cable match by a score of six games to four. Under the deed of gift by which the late Sir George Newnes donated the trophy, the team winning three successive matches obtained final possession, and this the British accomplished by today's victory. Of the 13 matches each side won six, while that of 1901 ended in a tie. A total of 128 games was played, each side being credited with 64 victories.

After the bad start of Friday, when Marshall lost to Burn in London, the Americans picked up well today, winning three games and drawing two. The British, however, scored at the remaining five boards.

Individual honors of the match on the American side went to Albert W. Fox, of Washington; Roy T. Black, of Brooklyn, and Leonard B. Meyer, of the Manhattan Chess Club. Fox was awarded a gold medal, offered as a special p e to the American winning the most brilliant game.

FAVORS ROANOKE MAYOR.

All But Three Charges of 19 Against Executive Are Quashed.

Roanoke, Va., April 22.—The proceedings in the case of Mayor Joel L. Cutchin on trial here for malfeasance and misfeasance in office were brought to a temporary halt today when Judge Mullen, presiding, quashed the rule under which the mayor was being tried and entered an order which embraces but three charges, while the original rule contained 19.

The charges in the new rule are that the mayor in his present term of office refused to enforce the laws against certain houses of ill fame, and certain gambling houses, and gave orders to prevent officers from interfering with the conduct of the establishments.

The court adjourned until Monday morning when the case will be tried. The matter of securing a jury will be taken up then.

WEEK'S NEWS AT LUMBERTON

Farm Life School Election—Town Campaign in Full Swing—Early Closing Being Agitated. Opera Attractions.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., April 22.—The Farm Life School election which has been ordered for this county Tuesday, May 9th, is beginning to receive a good deal of attention. An entirely new registration will be required and those who favor as well as those who do not favor a bond issue for this purpose will do well to get busy.

That there are many who oppose the measure is well known. Many of the people do not understand the proposition and are asking who are to be benefitted. Does the bill provide for the white people alone, or does it include the Indians and colored people? Would a bond issue of $10,000, $15,000 or $25,000 equip schools for the three races or is it intended only for the white people? If it is for white people alone what would be the result if the other two races should demand similar schools? Will some one who is posted please give the desired information? Some of the wisest and best farmers in the county oppose the measure.

The town primary for the purpose of choosing mayor, three commissioners and four graded school trustees, is now the all-absorbing topic. Mr. W. E. Hooks, master mechanic for the Kingsdale Lumber Company, who announced himself a candidate for mayor about a month ago, addressed a meeting of citizens in the Court House Thursday night, and it is understood that he will be in the fight to the finish. Mayor Rowland having withdrawn from the race, Mr. W. O. Thompson has now entered, and the contest may be said to be between him and Mr. White. Both of these gentlemen, we were told, were present at Mr. Hooks' meeting and though the invitation was extended they declined to debate the question with him. Three new commissioners are to be elected. Messrs. M. W. Floyd, J. H. Wishart and Ed B. Freeman, whose terms expire, will be before the people again. Mr. Floyd seems to have been endorsed by both sides, but Messrs. Wishart and Freeman will be opposed by Messrs. Howard Morrison and W. J. Prevatt. All good men—take your choice. For graded school trustees, Messrs. C. B. Townsend, L. H. Caldwell, W. S. Britt, L. E. Whaley and W. P. Barker will be voted for. There are four of these to be selected. There is no opposition to the present board of audit and finance.

Mr. Thos. R. Smith, one of the oldest and best known citizens of this section, died at the Soldiers' Home at Raleigh yesterday at 1 o'clock. Mr. Smith was a veteran of the Civil War, and about two months ago on account of failing health, went to the Soldiers' Home. He was 74 years of age. The remains arrived here this morning and were taken to the East Lumberton cemetery where the interment took place.

The Board of County Commissioners met in special session Thursday for the purpose of drawing the jury for the special term of court to be convened here on May 15th for the hearing of criminal cases. It will only be a one week term, but a regular one week term convenes on the 22nd, so that court will really be in session for two weeks, the second week being to hear civil cases. Judge Cook will preside. The next court will be a two-weeks term in July for criminal cases, Judge Whedbee presiding.

Mr. D. Y. Floyd, of Wilmington, is here doing the electrical work on the new residences of Messrs. Mike Caldwell, Jno. T. Biggs and F. J. Floyd. Mr. Floyd is a brother of Mr. M. W. Floyd.——Mr. L. H. Caldwell lost a valuable dray horse this week as the result of an attack of colic.

We understand that some of the merchants are considering the matter of closing their places of business at 6 o'clock in the evening during the Summer instead of 6:30 as was done last year. This is the right spirit. No business men in any town have a more loyal set of clerks than the Lumberton merchants have, and nearly all the boys are on the job by 6 o'clock in the morning. It does seem that during the Summer when the days are so long, people might buy what they need in 12 hours time. Let's be on time and help the boys get off at 6 o'clock.

The peach crop is not the total failure in this section that it was thought a month ago. Many trees are well filled, and unless something befalls them from this time on there will be a good many peaches. The outlook for apples is good, as the trees are just now in bloom. It is a sad truth though that our people do not give more attention to the growing of fruit in this section.

It was our pleasure yesterday to visit the prosperous and beautiful little city of Rowland. Once a fellow visits Rowland he feels like he does after visiting Wilmington—he wants to go again. Rowland people are justly proud of their town, as it is one of the best of its kind to be found anywhere, and its people are the kind that make good towns. The farms in that section are in the best of condition we have ever seen at this time of the year. In many places, corn and cotton are both up, while in other places the people are busy planting cotton. With favorable seasons, Robeson should make a record breaking crop of all kinds.

The John R. Smith shows will close their engagement here tonight. The show grounds were too far out for the ladies and children to attend, and even if the show had been allowed to stay in town they would not have attended, for while there are a number of fine people with the show, there are some things connected with it that should not be allowed if reports are true. The show leaves here tomorrow for Laurinburg for a week after which it goes to Wilmington for a week.

John Thompson, the character actor, appeared in the Opera House Thursday night, but lost a day somewhere on the road and did not discover his mistake until he arrived a day ahead. He got busy and showed anyway, but with the carnival and Mr. Hooks' speechmaking to contend with, Mr. Thompson was not crowded at all. He made a ten-cent rate for school children and in that way did not have to sing and dance to empty seats altogether.

From now on there will be something doing at the opera house six nights in the week. The picture show will open beginning at 8 o'clock. The prices will be 5 and 10 cents. On next Saturday night, the 29th, it will give way for Cols. Polk Miller and Tom Booker with their colored quartette. This entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Danghters of the Confederacy and the house should be packed.

The many friends of Mr. Geo. French are delighted to see him at home again after spending two months in a Richmond hospital where he was treated for a throat trouble. Mr. French is rapidly improving and everyone hopes to see him speedily restored to his usual good health.——Mr. John Jones came home from Charleston, S. C., Thursday to spend some time with his family.

Recently several papers published an item regarding a lady and two children who were traveling with a carnival, while the whereabouts of the husband, who was a minister, was unknown. A gentleman who was in Raleigh a few days ago stated that he met the unfortunate man on the street there and that his condition was such that it took the greater part of the sidewalk for him to walk on. It has been said that the lady and children are with the carnival that has been here this week, but we do not vouch for the truth of the statement.——The passenger coaches on the V. & C. S. have been repainted and look as good as new.

The new sales stables being erected by Mr. W. I. Linkhaw, replacing those recently destroyed by fire, are nearing completion. Brick is being placed on the lot for the erection of three brick stores also. These will be two stories high, fronting on Chestnut street. Several applications are already in for the stores when erected.

A few days ago while a gentleman was trying to locate a hawk nest in the river swamp some distance below town, his attention was attracted by a commotion in a small stream of water running through the swamp. Upon investigation he found that the water had fallen and left a large fish, unable to get back into the river. He shot and killed the fish which proved to be one of the largest shad ever seen in this section. Twelve or fifteen years ago Lumber river was stocked with shad but so far as we know this is the first one seen in the water here since they were deposited. There must be more of them, but how to catch them is another proposition.

Mr. J. H. Wishart received from his farm yesterday the first load of home raised cabbage that we have seen on the market here this season. They were put on market while wet with the morning dew and found ready sale. A few years ago a wagon load of cabbage would have glutted the market, but not so any more. Only yesterday Mr. C. B. Redmond received a shipment of cabbage and other vegetables from Florida upon which the express charges was between $18 and $20. A crate of cabbage cost in Florida 80 cents and the express on it is $1.46, nearly twice as much as the cabbag. cost.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Lawrence and children left this morning for Wake Forest to visit relatives. Mr. Lawrence will return tomorrow night but Mrs. Lawrence and children will remain for several days.

During the past few days the interior of both the Western Union and express offices have been greatly improved in appearance and convenience by some changes being made in the arrangement of the offices.

Mr. U. M. Edwards has changed the stairway from the rear to the front of his bicycle building. This adds greatly to the convenience of the building.

MR. FRANK DUVAL KOONCE.

Honored and Well Known Onslow Citiezn Passed Away Monday.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Richlands, N. C., April 22.—Mr. Frank Duval Koonce died at his residence in Richlands, Onslow county, Monday evening, April 10, 1911. He was a son of Bryan Koonce, and was born at Richlands, Nov. 7th, 1837. Mr. Koonce was educated at Richlands Academy, Randolph-Macon Colege and the University of North Carolina. He read law under Judge Richmond Pearson, and practiced law in Jones, Onslow and Duplin counties. During the late war he was a captain in the Confederate Army. At the age of 23 he was presidential elector on the Douglas ticket, and was a strong union man all his life. In 1898, 1886 and 1892 he was on the State Senatorial ticket, and at the time of his death was United States Commissioner of the Eastern District of the State.

Mr. Koonce was a strong advocate of education, and be it said to his credit that he tried to give his children educational advantages.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Hannah Koonce, and three daughters, Mrs. Jno. R. Hatch, Richlands, N. C., Mrs. Williams, of Belfast, Ga.; Mrs. J. Louis King, of Richlands, N. C., and four sons, Henry Koonce, Richlands, N. C.; Dr. Koonce, of Washington, D. C.; Alex. Koonce, of Cullohee, N. C., and Jno. E. Koonce, of Chadbourn. He was a member of the Methodist church, and was a consecrated Christian worker. In his last hours he seemed to be conscious of his nearness to God, and the realty of heaven and the glorious inheritance of the Saints in Jesus Christ seemed visible in his countenance. What a consolation to his relatives and friends to know that his name is recorded in the Book of Life May Heaven's richest blessings rest upon his bereaved widow and children. W. E. B.

A CARD.

To the Public: I wish to assure you that the statement that is being circulated by some of my friends? that I am a "Sewerage Candidate" is absolutely false. I am in no way connected with the Sewerage Company and never have been, in any capacity. I feel that I could act as impartially on the sewerage question as on any other and if I am elected Councilman will certainly work for the best interest of the City.

Very respectfully,

FOREST FIRE CASES.

Being Tried in Columbus Court—The Strawberry Outlook—Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., April 22.—The court has been all day yesterday engaged in the trial of cases against railroads for setting fire to forest lines, and they will continue through today. There was one such case against the Evergreen Lumber Company, whose locomotive, it is said, burned off some land. It was a hard fought case, Schulken, Toon & Schulken representing the defense and Messrs. Lewis, Lyon & Green the prosecution. The jury returned a verdict for $75 against the company.

Court will hold all next week, but no very important cases will be tried, just miscellaneous civil cases.

Mr. Spears Hicks, cashier of the Bank of Dunn, is in attendance on our court. Mr. Hicks is interested in a case that Mr. J. D. Maultsby is bringing against the purchaser of part of the Sweet Farm. It will probably not be reached until next week. Mr. Hicks says his bank last year paid 10 per cent. on a capital stock of $40,000. He says that Dunn is a fine buisness point, and gets about 10,000 bales of cotton a year.

The strawberry market is still on a boom and everything points to highly renumerative prices to growers. Berries are bringing from $3.75 to $4 per crate and some sell even higher. A grower in town yesterday showed your correspondent a bill where he had sold 30 quarts for $7.30. They were the common Thompson berry and not the Klondyke.

There has been a traveling carnival show all this week at Vineland. Those who attended say the five separate shows combined are worth about a nickel. The county got $100 tax and the town $25 out of the company.

Solicitor Sinclair.

Whiteville News-Reporter: Hon. N. A. Sinclair spent a couple of days in Whiteville in attendance on our court and his host of friends were indeed glad to see and welcome him. The Old North State does not boast of a finer gentleman, an abler lawyer, or truer and more loyal Democrat than Solicitor Sinclair, and every one respects and honors him. North Carolina has not an abler official; but the people intend that he shall fill some position where he can be of still greater service to them. Hon. N. A. Sinclair is a broad-guage man and statesman and wherever you find him he is the same polished, chivalrous Southern gentleman. When the people honor such men as Mr. Sinclair they honor themselves and their State and country.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

THE MORNING STAR

Published by the WILMINGTON STAR COMPANY, INC., Wilmington, N. C.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Wilmington, N. C., under Act of Congress, March 2nd, 1874.

FULL ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.

PUBLISHERS' ANNOUNCEMENT.

THE MORNING STAR, the oldest daily newspaper in North Carolina, is published daily except Monday, at $6 per year, $3 for six months, $1.50 for three months, 50 cents for one month, served by carriers in the city, or by mail.

THE SUNDAY STAR, by mail, one year, $1; six months, 50 cents; three months, 25 cents.

ADVERTISING RATES may be had on application, and advertisers may feel assured that through the columns of this paper they may reach all Wilmington, Eastern Carolina and contiguous territory in South Carolina.

Obituary sketches, cards of thanks, communications espousing the cause of a private enterprise or a political candidate, and like matter, will be charged at the rate of 10 cents per line, or if paid cash in advance, a half rate will be allowed. Announcements of fairs, festivals, balls, hops, picnics, society meetings, political meetings, etc., will be charged under same conditions, except so much thereof as may be of news value to readers of the paper.

Advertisements discontinued before expiration of contracts are charged transient rates for time actually published. Payment for transient advertisements must be cash in advance. Contract advertisers will not be allowed to exceed their space at same rates or advertise anything foreign to their regular business without extra charge. Advertisements to occupy special place will be charged for according to position desired.

TELEPHONES: Business Office, No. 51; Editorial and Local rooms, No. 61. Call either, if the other doesn't answer.

COMMUNICATIONS, unless they contain important news, or discuss briefly and properly subjects of real interest, are not wanted; and if acceptable in every other way, they will invariably be rejected unless the real name of the author accompanies the same, not necessarily for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith.

Sunday, April 23, 1911.

On account of April, we are glad May is coming next Sunday.

It behooves every man to keep his head level so he won't get crooked.

If you don't make war on mosquitoes and flies they will make war on you.

Some men become famous, some are made famous and some of them make themselves in-famous.

If the recall be applied to an official it will be hard on his descendants. Think of having an ancestor who couldn't hold his own after he got an office!

The New York suffragettes are to have a great parade, May 6th. That is probably the day when they will have their new hats and Spring clothes.

If they could work the recall on President Diaz in Mexico it would save the insurrectos an immense amount of trouble and expense. The recall has economic possibilities.

The Waycross (Ga.) Herald gets off this: "An optimist is a fellow who makes lemonade of the lemons that have been handed him." He gets ahead of the pessimist who rips out the silver lining of every cloud.

A New York millionaire hired a man to make love to his wife when she was in Atlantic City. However, he paid only $200 which was hardly a starter for having much of a romantic time at a fashionable seaside resort.

The judge who is opposing the "recall" needn't do anything to be recalled unless he wants to. Every judge should so act that he need not lose any sleep whether there is any recall or not. No man should flee before he is pursued.

The best argument for schools is furnished by Breathitt county, Ky., where feuds and killings are the order of the day. No schools are maintained in 21 of the 28 townships in that county. Ignorance and brutality go hand in hand and the revolver is their handmaid.

The Saturday Evening Post remarks: "Col. Roosevelt's greatest ambition, says Greenway, is to be shot on the field of battle." Shucks! Col. Roosevelt wants to come within an ace of getting killed so he can get more material for another book. Dead soldiers tell no tales.

If you speak ill of a man you damage his reputation, whether he deserves it or not. If you knock your town you hurt its reputation, and there is no telling how much damage you may do. Some men are undesirable citizens and the knockers and the pessimists are at the head of the procession of undesirables.

This we take from the Greensboro Record: "A technical paper, after much "research and labor," announces that dogs can and do talk. We are not sure, but we know they can smell and that they use their smellers on any and all occasions." Whether a dog can talk or not it can't be disputed that he always nose what he is about.

Roosevelt declares he is not a Presidential candidate. How is he supposed to know until he reads the newspapers, and becomes satisfied that he is a candidate? When he sees it in the papers he will know differently. A man who is receptive is a candidate for anything. He doesn't have to be "seekative" to be considered in the game.

OUR REGIONAL ASSETS.

Regions have assets just like individuals. When we figure on the wealth of an individual we ascertain how much real estate he has, how many acres of land he has, how many houses he owns, what his home is worth, what his stocks and bonds amount to, how much merchandise he carries and what the amount of his stock in trade is, whether it is thirty cents or thousands of dollars.

This fine region of eastern North Carolina has its assets, just like an individual. Who knows them or thinks he knows them? They are valuable and numerous. One of them is an ideal climate which furnishes equable rainfall and sunshine and a long growing season suitable for the full maturity of a large variety of crops. We have a rich and generous soil adapted to numerous money crops. We have water and rail transportation, school, church and social advantages, and numerous other elements that go to make this a desirable country in which to live, to farm, to do business, to manufacture, and to take our ease or enjoy the good things of life.

Who knows what are the assets of this splendid region of which so many of us seem to be inappreciative? We know a good many of them but the little we know would fill a book. There is such an infinite variety of assets in this incomparable country that tney would have to be grouped and gotten together in comprehensive shape in order to do them justice.

In this instance let us emphasize just one of our assets—our great variety of fertile soils—the land asset of eastern North Carolina. Do we properly consider the magnitude of this asset? Do we stop to think of its value? If we do not other folks do, for some people know a good thing when they see it. This from the Maxton Scottish Chief shows what is thought by some people of the value of our regional land asset:

"The Southern Realty & Auction Co., of Greensboro, under the management of the genial E. M. Andrews, is forging to the front in handling real estate. In December they sold the Edens estate at Clio, which realized $73,000, about $23,000 more than the owners expected to get for it. Last week the Nathaniel McNair farm in Thompson's township, this county, was sold at auction by this company and brought $41,000, which was very much more than it was dreamed that it would bring. When Andrews has charge there are two satisfied parties beside himself; the owner and the purchaser."

Evidently some people know our land asset when they see it. Think of farms selling at $41,000 to $73,000! However, it must be remembered that those are improved lands, producing abundantly of cotton, tobacco, peanuts, corn, wheat, oats, rye, clover, alfalfa, and whatever grows in the ground. Our farmers may not raise all these things but they can do so, and besides produce numerous other crops which they have not even considered. These lands are good for farming and for dairying and they bring good prices because the purchasers have figured on their capabilities and worth. We have reason to feel confident that these farms were sold cheap, for it must be remembered that they contain many acres, and we are willing to venture the assertion that the purchasers consider that they got a good bargain. In fact, we know they did.

Throughout eastern North Carolina we have improved and unimproved lands that can be had cheap, even considering the apparent high prices of some farms. It must be remembered that land which produces a bale or two of cotton per acre and yields abundant crops of all kinds of products are worth good money. The State Demonstration farm near Wilmington has demonstrated this Spring that it netted $600 on one acre of land in lettuce, which has already been marketed, while the land is ready for a cotton crop or two or three more crops that can be produced during our long growing season.

One instance and one demonstration after another follows, so what's the use of piling up the evidence? Why don't we recognize the tremendous value of our soil and climate asset, and do something to convince people from a distance of just what we have for them in eastern North Carolina, the choicest section of the Nation's Garden Spot?

OUR CIVIL WAR CELEBRATIONS.

This year ushered in the fiftieth anniversary of the war between the States, and it is remarkable what changes have taken place during that half century. Sectional bitterness has vanished, only sad memories are cherished, and the people of the North and of the South can pay tributes in sentiment and not in triumph or exultation in recounting the deeds of that strife, each understanding the other in the light of the glorious Union they now compose.

There has been talk in the North about celebrating the semi-centennial of the war, and among the discussions in that connection we find a remarkable letter in the New York Times, written by a Northern man who for many years has resided in the South. The writer is the Rev. F. H. T. Horsfield, formerly rector of St. James' Episcopal church, Wilmington, who is now rector of the church at Oxford, N. C. The letter follows:

"Editor of the New York Times:

"Is it wise, or generous, or kind, or even expedient for the North to enter upon a series of spectacular memorials of the semi-centennial events of the civil war?

"I am a New Yorker, born in the city, as my forebears have been since 1650 and 1721. I saw the march of the Seventh Regiment down Broadway, and whimpered with the half-understood tears of my elders. I have also lived in the South for more than ten years. I think I know, and can feel something of the real issue on both sides of the Potomac.

"It is possible for the North to carry out the public observance of these coming anniversaries of long ago heroism, but the conflict was between brothers; and I believe she is trifling with the deepest emotions of the life of our reunited country if she does so.

"The opportunity of its lifetime for the common good lies within the grasp of the Grand Army of the Republic, it seems to me. Soldiers, veterans, be generous, as you have been brave. Tell the civilians who know nothing of the agony of the war of secession that it is not expedient to try to live over again the old tale of blood and death. I take off my hat to the valor of the American soldier, tried on many a field of battle, but I hesitate before throwing it in the air in jubilant memory of the deeds done, with glory enough, but in unbrotherly strife.

"The thinning line of Gray is just as pitiful in its weakness, and debility, as is the thinning line of the Blue, and just as brave and just as sensitive.

"The victor is stronger now than on the field of Appomattox. In his unquestioned strength he can afford to forget, if not to forgive.

"F. H. T. HORSFIELD.

"Oxford, N. C., April 12, 1911."

The above sentiments and suggestions do credit to the head and heart of Dr. Horsfield, who, in a brief residence in Wilmington, won the love, esteem and adminariton of our people. They will be interested in his reference to our Civil War celebrations and all can appreciate the fine sentiment and high motive which actuate his utterances. Mr. Horsfield takes the right view of it, and yet were the celebrations held we doubt whether they would arouse any but melancholy interest in events so far remote they would not stir or disturb the even-minded patriot of today.

However, as to celebrating, that is a matter for our Northern friends to decide for themselves. As far as Dr. Horsfield, his heart is in the right place and whether or not his suggestion is heeded, his sentiments awaken a sensible feeling of appreciation here weher he is known and loved.

WE ARE WHAT WE ARE.

A princess was recently ejected from a hotel at Asbury Park, N. J., because she was an undesirable guest. The princess business did not cut any ice in that hotel, and in this connection it might be observed that in business a duke with only 30 cents in his pocket couldn't get credit at a corner grocery.

It is what we are that counts. We may consider ourselves some kind of high-cock-a-lorum, but if we haven't got a meal ticket the bouncer will put us out. The bouncer may be an individual with patches on his breeches but what does he care when we tell him our ancestors came over on the Mayflower and that we can prove we descended from noble ancestry, whether we know they were degenerates or not? Our high feathers and fancied importance would have no effect on a mere plebian bouncer, and, for that matter, it doesn't cut any ice with commonality and other folks who take things as they are. If we haven't got the price and haven't been working at some honorable employment so we can have a meal ticket, we will get put out.

Every fellow ought to do something and get something, and so conduct himself that he can look every conquered man in the face and tell him to "go to." After all

"Honor and shame from no conditions rise,
Act well your part, there all the honor lies."

A VICTORY FOR THE PEOPLE.

The Star is printing elsewhere in today's paper, with much gratification, the news from Raleigh that the Corporation Commission has just made an order requiring the much-needed additional passenger train service on the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad between this city and Goldsboro. The Star confesses to a personal interest in the matter, for it will enable it to serve its patrons along this line on about the same schedule that it has been possible for the other State papers to serve their constituencies in the same territory, and in fighting for this service, it feels that it has been clearly within its rights and has incident to its own benefit, been a real service to the community. It is to be regretted that Chairman Franklin McNeill, an Eastern man, at one time a resident of Wilmington, and in a position to judge of the needs of the community, did not see his way clear to concur in the ruling by the two other members of the Commission, Messrs. Brown and Lee, to whom the thanks of the section are due for this important concession, and a removal of a discrimination that has long existed against Wilmington and the Wilmington territory. The benefits to the traveling public are too patent to admit of elaboration. The order is effective May 15th. To Messrs. Brown and Lee our hats are off! We believe they have rendered a real service to the people for which we are deeply grateful.

THE SEWERAGE QUESTION.

The Star is publishing elsewhere in today's paper, without endorsement, however, a communication from Iredell Meares, Esq., attorney for the bondholders, relative to the sewerage question. It is plain to be seen that the question is to be a prominent and an important one with the incoming administration of city affairs and believing that all angles of the situation should be clearly laid before the people, the communication is presented for the information that it contains.

The North Carolina General Assembly would not give us a state-wide primary election law, but Governor Wilson got the New Jersey Legislature to pass one for that State and he has signed it.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The finest strawberries on earth are grown in North Carolina—Greensboro News.

Ex-Governor Jarvis says Locke Craig will be the next governor. It would be a favor if he would also settle the senatorial question.—Greensboro News.

And now Salisbury is to have lady barbers! Well, well, aren't we coming! This will place Salisbury in the class with Richmond and Atlanta. Now won't Charlotte, Asheville and Grensboro envy this town!—Salisbury Post.

Wilmington Star: "Know your town so you can introduce those who would like to make another acquaintance worth knowing." The best way to boom your city is to have all its good points at your finger-tips, ready to be placed before any stranger.—Petersburg Index-Appeal.

The Mexican ambasador at Washington issued a statement yesterday in which he said that "the press at present, more than ever, may do great good if it directs its efforts to prevent public opinion from being excited by anyone." This excellent advice has already been taken.—New York World, April 21.

The control of cities over the surface of a street is almost unlimited and they can do whatever is necessary to make it safe and convenient for travel without regard to the interests of the owner. In other words, the interest of the public is greater than that of any individual. His rights are subordinate to the general welfare.—Winston-Salem Sentinel.

Col. Clawson, of the Wilmington Star, has discovered a new tuber through which he catches glimpses of great fortunes coming to the South, as it can be cultivated on undrained swamp lands. It's a cold day in August when the Colonel does not discover a new tuber. He has turned his back upon the Westbrook "hog potato" which the unsanctified ventured to call the American artichoke. But his eyes are open to tubers whichever way they point and there has come into the scope of their vision the dasheen that was grown at Gough, S. C., and captured 500 banqueters in Washington.—Maxton Scottish Chief.

The writer has often heard the question asked, What were the sand hills put here for? And the answer was, To hold the earth together. Now they are making a bale of cotton and as high as 125 bushels of corn to the acre. With the Northern people seeking these lands and the farmers from Marlboro, S. C., and many other people from good farming sections buying these lands, it begins to look like an era of prosperity is at hand for the sandy belt. Success has already been achieved in the culture of peaches, grapes, dewberries and other things. The fact is a great deal of these lands have a good clay subsoil and they respond freely to high fertilization.—Rockingham Post.

"Oh, you Charlotte-to-Wilmington Highway! Long delay superinduces cold feet, so let's get up and take a running start."—Wilmington Star. This road is in the hands of a board of trustees. They had a meeting at Maxton a few weeks ago, or were to have one—have never heard from it. But if Wilmington and Brunswick county will move through Brunswick we will guarantee the balance of the way. This end of the line is not disposed to build to the swamps of Brunswick and then get stuck in the mud. The Rockingham Railroad is headed this way and is making good progress. Grading and work is being done all along the line, and over seven miles of rail has been actually laid. By good Summer the road will be in operation.—Rockingham Post.

WITHOUT DEFENSE.

(Communicated.)

Society exists for good. But for this consideration social restraints would not be endured. When there exists in the social body a condition which cannot be justified on the ground of good, and which no man of reputation and self-respect will or can defend, such a condition is the deadly enemy of society. This defines the blind tiger interest. Without a defender, without an apologist, this enemy of society seeks to lay hold upon our city government to the utter undoing of law and order.

The blind tiger sometimes nods but never sleeps. It plays 'possum only that it may be the greater tiger; it works in the dark and covers its tracks; it discards a friend who can no longer serve it and embraces an enemy whose influence it can use; it is without conscience or soul and can prove an alibi for its bodily elements; it feeds on human weaknesses and slakes its thirst with women's tears; it debauches the laboring man and leaves the child fatherless and the mother penniless.

ODD FELLOWS' ANNIVERSARY

Fitting Observance of the Day in I. O. O. F. Hall on Wednesday Evening—Hon. John D. Bellamy, the Orator.

As previously announced the 92nd anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be celebrated by the four Wilmington lodges on Wednesday evening of this week in I. O. O. F. Hall, Third and Princess streets, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Elsewhere in today's paper Chairman John E. Wood and Secretary Jos. D. Smith, of the Joint Committee, issue notice to all Odd Fellows of the celebration and it is hoped there will be a very large attendance. The order has been a power for good since its foundation and numbers in the United States alone over one million members and in the State over 16,000, while in this city there are over 500 members. One of the noblest works of the order in this State is the Orphans' Home at Goldsboro, of which Mr. Marcus W. Jacobi, of this city, is one of the trustees, and of which his lamented father was known as the "father."

Instead of sending away for an orator on this occasion, the committee this year, believing that there is good material at home, selected ex-Congressman John D. Bellamy to make the address. Mr. Bellamy is a Past Master of the order and an able and brilliant speaker.

In addition to the address there will be music and refreshments and one of the committee, it is said, has promised a surprise for the audience. All Odd Fellows and their families and friends are cordially invited. The Daughters of Rebekah are especially invited to be present.

DOING EXCELLENT WORK.

Progress of Colored School in the Wrightsville Township.

The colored school in Wrightsville township closed for the term last Friday night. Mr. Giles W. Westbrook, of the school committee, was in the city yesterday and spoke in the most complimentary terms of the teacher, Ellen Storey, and the pupils who have been in her charge. The exercises were exceptionally interesting, he stated, and the colored children astonished everybody by the aptness and excellence with which they carried out the entertaining programme. The exercises showed the care of the pupils and exemplified the efficiency of the teacher.

Three years ago the school had 40 pupils, last year the roll contained 60 names, and this year the number in attendance was 70.

INJUNCTION WAS REFUSED.

Effort to Prevent Duck Lake Lumber Co., From Cutting Timber.

At a hearing in chambers yesterday before Judge Peebles upon application for an injunction to restrain the Duck Lake Lumber Company from cutting timber on certain lands claimed by J. D. Futch, Judge Peebles held that the deed from Rachel Burnett, executrix of Alfred Floyd, and under which deed Futch claimed to hold, conveyed no title, and the injunction was refused. Some time ago Judge Cook issued a restraining order preventing J. D. Futch from cutting timber from the land in question, this order having been made at Clinton. L. Clayton Grant, Esq., is attorney for the Duck Lake Lumber Company and E. K. Bryan, Esq., counsel for J. D. Futch.

Mr. Smith announces that he will speak on "pledges, combinations, Etc.", and being a fluent talker and ready with repartee, those who hear him may expect a treat.

MRS. B. GREENEWALD DEAD.

Passed Away at Her Home in Spartanburg, S. C.—Interment Here.

Many Wilmington friends learned yesterday with sorrow of the death of Mrs. B. Greenewald, which occurred on Friday night at her home in Spartanburg, S. C. The family was well known and highly esteemed here and the telegram was a great shock to all. The remains have been brought to Wilmington for interment and the funeral will be conducted at 11 o'clock this morning from the residence of Mrs. Greenewald's brother, Mr. J. Weil, corner of Sixth and Dock streets. The interment will be in Oakdale cemetery.

SABBATH MAIL HOURS.

Closing of Postoffice on Sunday and Criticisms Are Invited.

The postmaster, although desirous of a continuance of the most liberal service that can possibly be afforded the patrons of the local office, is also deeply interested in the welfare of his employes, believing that they are entitled to one day's rest in seven and that their efficiency will be increased thereby.

Criticisms are, therefore, respectfully invited, not only from the press, but from the public generally as to the advisability of closing the carriers' window on Sunday.

It must be borne in mind that the Sunday closing would mean that, with the exception of the opening of the general delivery window a sufficient length of time, after the arrival of the principal morning mail, to accommodate the traveling public, there would be no delivery of carriers' mail on that day, but the regular Sunday collection would continue to be made.

Any patron who has heretofore been in the habit of calling for mail at the carriers' delivery windows desiring an important personal communication delivered on Sunday, would be accommodated by making provision for its delivery as special delivery letter.

Business men who now receive their mail by carrier and, who desire their mail regularly on Sunday, would be allowed to rent boxes (at the full rate) even though their mail is delivered to them by carriers on the other days of the week.

Should the public favor the closing as suggested, the only work done in the postoffice on the Sabbath, with the exception of distributing mail to box renters, would be the dispatch of out-going mails.

"CHOCOLATE SOLDIER" COMING.

Superb Musical Success Will be Here for Two Performances.

It can be definitely announced that "The Chocolate Soldier," the biggest comic opera success in years and which is now making a short road tour, with the original company and massive production, will be seen in Wilmington. What's more, it will be seen twice in this city, at matinee and night Saturday, May 6th. All this will be joyful news to Wilmington theatre-goers and they may well commence to whet up their appetites in expectation of beholding something extra superb. The list closed last night. It was satisfactory, so it was decided last night to close the contract for "The Chocolate Soldier," so the representative of the company, who has been in Wilmington for the past two days, was told to go ahead and place Wilmington down for the big event. Undoubtedly "The Chocolate Soldier" will prove the most brilliant event of the season now just about to close, and that is saying something big, because Wilmington this season has had many original big New York productions.

MASS MEETING AT BIJOU.

Railroad Enginman to Speak Under Auspices of Y. M. C. A.

Mr. D. J. Fant, of Atlanta, who speaks under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. at the Bijou theatre today, is a railroad engineer and also a Christian worker of much renown. Mr. Fant and two others, one an engineer, the other a traveling salesman, run a rescue mission in Atlanta and the results have been all that could be expected under the conditions that confront such institutions. Wilmington, and especially Wilmington railroad men, should turn out to hear this great and good man.

This is not an especial men's meeting but the public generally is invited. The Y. M. C. A. is endeavoring to get interesting speakers and members of the Association hope that the public will show by a large attendance that their eorts are appreciated. The meeting this afternoon will be held at 5 o'clock.

SEASON AT WRIGHTSVILLE

Many Improvements for Seashore Hotel—Steel Pier Will be Rebuilt. Will Have Covered Walkway From Tracks.

With the date for the opening of the season at Wrightsville Beach only a little more than 30 days distant, Capt. Edgar L. Hinton, who has managed the Seashore Hotel with such marked success during the past few seasons, is busy having various repairs made to the hotel and certain improvements to the grounds.

Indications are that the approaching season will be the most prosperous in the history of this now famous resort, and in fact, letters are already being received asking for reservations. Each season the Seashore has guests from all of the Southern States and during the past few Summers quite a number of visitors have come from the Northern States.

Capt. Hinton has had a large force of carpenters and painters busy for the past two weeks and it will take until towards the last of May to complete all of the improvements undertaken. One of the most noticeable improvements will be the building of a covered walkway leading from the tracks of the Tidewater Power Company to the entrance of the hotel facing the Sound, a distance of about 100 feet. The walkway will be of concrete and on either side will be rows of seats. That part of the steel pier carried away during a very high tide last Summer will be replaced at once and the measurements for all necessary material has been taken by Mr. Louis H. Skinner. At the end of the pier another pavilion will be erected and the same will be enclosed in glass. There will also be overhanging floors for those who desire to fish.

The dining room of the Seashore will be enlarged so that the seating capacity will be more than 300 while at the presentime it is only 200. The kitchen and store-room have also been enlarged and equipped with all of the improvements of a modern hotel. Plumbers are now installing a large boiler and tank that will not only furnish all of the hot water needed in the kitchen but also an abundant supply to each of the rooms with bath, of which the hotel now has 80. Among the new kitchen facilities is a steaming table, plate warmer and motor power dish washing machine. Entirely new crockery, linen and silverware for the hotel has been purchased and new furniture and bath room fixtures for the entire old part of the hotel.

The Seashore Hotel has always been very fortuante in securing an excellent orchestra and this year one of the best female orchestras to be obtained has been signed up. The orchestra will be composed of seven pieces and all members are graduates of the Conservatory of Music and now starring the country in Lyceum courses. Miss Florence Mills will be the leader and in her last letter she states that two or three of the musicians are also vocalists of reputation.

There will be but little change in the clerical force of the hotel. This famous resort hotel has become noted throughout the entire South for the politeness and affability of the clerks and attaches. Those who will be with the Seashore this Summer are W. E. Fennington, Tarboro, chief clerk; J. Fred Walker, Jacksonville, Fla., rooming clerk; John K. Williams, city, night clerk; William A. Davis, city, cashier; James Divine, city, assistant cashier; James Bowden, city, corresponding clerk; Frank Kamnish, New York, steward; John T. Quarles, city, in charge of store room; Walter Wood, city, electrician; Norwood Lockhart, city, in charge of buffet; Matt W. Bremer, city, in charge of restaurant; Thomas Dunham, Cartersville, Ga., in charge gentlemen's bath house; Mrs. Mary Seay, of Elizabeth College, Charlotte, house-keeper, and Mrs. Foreman, in charge of linen. Dr. Thomas S. Burbank will be resident physician.

The hostelry will have experienced waiters and in the kitchen will be cooks who are experts in their line.

TAR HEEL DELEGATION.

Wilmingtonian Back From Washington Talks Interestingly of Congress

Mr. James H. Chadbourn, president of the North Carolina Waterways Association, has returned from a visit to Wasnington, D. C., where he spent several days in connection with plans that are on foot for a greater development of North Carolina's waterways.

Mr. Chadbourn was delighted to find all members of the State delegation in fine fettle for their work as majority members and spoke encouragingly of the outlook for port and waterway development of the State. Mr. Godwin, he says, is taking a prominent stand in the ranks of his constituents, the Washington Times of Friday printing a handsome front page likeness of the North Carolina Congressman as chairman of the Committee on Reform in Civil Service. Mr. Chadbourn says Louis Hale is comfortably installed as secretary to Mr. Godwin's committee, is as clever and as jovial as of yore and is a valuable man in the position. Other members of the delegation he says are pleasantly situated and that it is a real pleasure for a North Carolinian to drop in on the capitol and watch Carolinians at work.

NEARLY 3,000 REGISTERED

Heavy Vote Looked for in Election May 1st—More Than 400 New Names Since the Primary. Workers Were Busy.

For the first time during the present municipal campaign, and not excepting the day of the primary, the public yesterday appeared to be taking considerable interest in local politics and al. through the day workers were busy getting people to register. That a good day's work was put in was clearly shown last night when it was found that the new registration—that is, the registration since the primary—amounted to 417, and the majority of these were placed upon the books yesterday.

Every indication now points to the largest vote being polled in the election on May 1st that has been cast in Wilmington within the last 12 or 15 years. The registration has reached the figure of 2,955, and is the largest in years. On the old books there were perhaps more names than on the new books, but these had been accumulating for years and there were many names that should have been stricken out.

Up to the date of the recent primary registration numbered 2,538. It was known that quite a number of people had not registered and the opinion prevailed that the former registration would be increased considerably before election day. The registration for the primary and since that time has been as follows:

First ward, first precinct—Original registration, 135, new 24; second precinct, original 353, new 60.

Second ward—Original registration, 345, new 86.

Third ward—Original registration, 544, new 86.

Fourth ward—Original registration, 410, new 42.

Fifth ward, first precinct—Original registration 329, new 58; second precinct, original 422, new 61.

In the primary last Tuesday only about 2,100 votes were cast, leaving more than 400 votes not polled, and, with the additional 417 placed on the books yesterday, makes the political situation anything but definite. It is said that the registration yesterday was practically evenly divided between the two factions.

The manner in which the election began to warm up yesterday caused it to be predicted that an enormous vote would be cast on the day of election, many estimating that it will reach 2,700 or 2,800. This would be several hundred larger than any vote cast in a city election in many years.

BERRY SHIPMENTS LIGHT.

Less Than 30 Cars During Past Week—Weather Too Cool.

The continued cool nights and cloudy days have caused strawberries to ripen very slowly and it is stated that he shipments for this date are fully 200 cars behind last season. Although the season opened yesterday a week ago less than 30 cars have gone forward during the past week from the entire berry belt.

Most of the berries shipped thus far have been from the Tabor territory, and in fact it is said that this year more berries will probably go from Tabor than Chadbourn. There have been but few cars from Chadbourn so far.

Estimates of the crop are still placed at between 1,600 and 1 700 cars and when the weather turns warm and the days clear the shipments will go forward with a rush. Very good prices have been received thus far but growers fear that the market will break if the berries ripen in a bunch.

The first shipment from the W. & W. territory will be made Monday when a car will go from Rocky Point and St. Helena. By the last of this week it is expected that berries will be going forward in considerable volume on the W. & W.

Eight cars have been ordered for yesterday and in addition to these the following cars were shipped during the week: Saturday, April 15th, one car; Monday, two cars; Tuesday, two cars; Wednesday, three cars; Thursday, six cars; Friday, four cars.

TWO STEAMERS ARRIVE.

Bring Fertilizer Material From Foreign Ports—One From Chile.

Two British steamers arrived yesterday with cargoes of fertilizer material from foreign ports. The steamer Mancunia, Capt. Laing, comes from Chile with nitrate of soda and brings a cargo of 5,500 tons to be discharged to the Wilmington Compress & Warehouse Company. The steamer comes from the west coast of South America and is the second this year with similar cargo from that place.

The British steamer Knutsford, Capt. Richardson, comes from Hamburg via Charleston, with part cargo of kainit for the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company. The vessel brings about 2,200 tons. Both steamers are to Heide & Co.

Cars to the Beach.

Today cars to the Beach every half hour in the afternoon. **

To Lecture at St. Stephen's

Azalia Hackley, a woman of considerable means and who has traveled all over this country and in Europe where she received most of her training, with which she has won fame on the stage as one of the most gifted songsters of her race, will lecture at St. Stephen's A. M. E. church this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the interest of the colored ward of the James Walker Memorial hospital. The public is invited to hear her. A collection will be taken for the institution named.

At Brooklyn Baptist Church.

At the morning meeting at Brooklyn Baptist church today the new members will be recognized and the pastor will preach on "Faithfulness to Church Vows." At night several will be baptised after the pastor preaches a short sermon on "Christ the Essential of Life." All new members are requested to be present at the morning service.

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. New, of Durham, are spending a few days in the city.

Miss E. Gesine Haar after a delightful visit to friends at Raleigh and Red Springs, returned home yesterday.

* * *

Rev. W. E. Cox has returned from Alliance, N. C., where he made the address at the commencement exercises of the school at that place.

Mrs. L. Jackson left on the early train this morning for Sumter, S. C., accompanied by her daughter, Miss Maude. She will visit her sister for some time.

Misses Annie Fenner, of Raleigh; Nannie Walker, of Winston; Nemmie Parrish, of Rocky Mount, and Nannie Biggs, of Wilson, who came to attend the Jacobs-Moore wedding during the past week, have returned to their homes.

The Debutantes Bridge Club was delightfully entertained Thursday evening by Misses Sallie Wright and Sunrotte Munds at the pretty home of the first named at Sixteenth and Market streets. The guests spent a most delightful evening.

* * *

Mrs. F. B. Culp and little daughter, Charlotte, who have been viisting Mrs. Culp's mother, Mrs. P. F. Duffy, have returned to Washington, D. C. On May 1st, Mrs. Culp and child will join Mr. Culp in Albuquerque, New Mexico, which city will be their future home.

Midshipman A. W. Reiger, of the United States battleship New Hampshire, stationed at Old Point, Va., has arrived to spend ten days with his mother and sisters at No. 611 Orange street, and has been greeted by his many Wilmington friends most pleasantly.

The following from yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer will be read with regret by many Wilmington friends: "This community is greatly grieved today to know that Mrs. Jas. D. McNeill is dangerously ill in Highsmoth hospital."

Many friends of Mr. Marion B. Rahm were delighted to note his return to the city yesterday from Hendersonville, N. C., where he has been recuperating for several weeks. He is much improved in health and is now restored almost to his former vigorous health.

The dramatic readings of Mme. Labadie in this city, under the auspices of the Hospital Circle of the King's Daughters, will be "Gossip," on the evening of the 25th, and "A Doll's House" on the evening of the 27th. Seats may be reserved at Yates' book store Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

The last meeting of Sorosis for this season will be held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the library of the Masonic Temple. At this meeting the Home Science department will be host of the club, and an especially interesting programme is being prepared consisting of informal talks, in the use of uncooked foods and fasting; also a practical demonstration of the fireless cooker.

The public may be interested to know that the Auxiliary of the James Walker Memorial Hospital collected $600 on Hospital Day. The ladies wish to thank those who so generously responded to their appeal for means to supply some much needed requisites at the hospital. The contributions of those who could not be personally solicited at the time, or those who have promised their aid, may be sent to and will be gratefully received by Mrs. William Latimer, chairman, 126 South Third street.

Members of Cape Fear Chapter, U. D. C., are reminded of the meeting on Wednesday afternoon, the 26th, at 4:30 o'clock, which is to be "Shiloh Day" and of a social nature rather than a routine business one. All members are urged to be present and are privileged to bring one guest, and Cape Fear Camp, U. C. V., and George Davis, Children's Chapter, are most cordially invited to meet with the Daughters on this occasion. The State president, Mrs. F. M. Williams, will be present and will speak on Shiloh and of the monument which the Daughters are striving to erect on that battlefield, and there will be other features appropriate to the subject of the meeting. It is hoped as many veterans as can do so will be present.

MR. McCLINTOCK LEAVES FOR JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

Regretting the removal of the family from the city, but nevertheless gratified at the well deserved promotion in the railroad service that it brings him, the many Wilmington friends of Mr. Howard McClintock will learn with interest that either this afternoon or this evening he will leave for Jacksonville, Fla., where in future he will have an important position with the St. Petersburg Transportation Co. Mr. McClintock for a number of years has been in the general offices of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co., in this city, and has a host of friends who will be pleased to know of his rapid advancement in his chosen line of work. Mrs. McClintock and child will join Mr. McClintock later in their new home.

Rocky Mount, N. C., April 22.—This morning shortly before noon friends here were in receipt of telegrams telling of the marriage of Miss Tempie Whitehead to Mr. R. Philip Holt, the ceremony naving been performed in Richmond by Rev. J. K. Latham, a Methodist minister, at 11 o'clock. The news of the marriage came as a surprise to a host of friends of the two young people, for yesterday afternoon Miss Whitehead left for Richmond supposedly for a visit to friends and to do two days' shopping, while the groom of today was in the city last night, having left by the early morning train today. It now develops that a few friends had been confided in and that Messrs. Lacey and Lassiter, of this city, and a friend of the bride's met in Richmond today to be attendants at this nuptial. Mr. and Mrs. Holt will leave Richmond this afternoon for a week's honeymoon to be spent at points North after which they will return to this city to make their future home.

Mrs. Albert C. Ducker, of Sumter, S. C., arrived in the city yesterday and will visit her sister, Mrs. John J. Fowler, at 117 South Front street.

* * *

Yesterday afternoon's Charlotte Chronicle says: "Mrs. J. P. Lucas and small son, Master John Paul Lucas, Jr., are expected home Monday from Wilmington, where they have been spending two weeks visiting Mrs. Lucas' mother, Mrs. Archibald Charles-Craft."

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

—Mr. W. H. Stacy, professor in the University of North Carolina, is spending a few days here on a visit to his brother, W. P. Stacy, Esq.

—Among yesterday's arrivals at The Orton were W. T. Norris, Teachey's; S. J. Strickland and wife, Town Creek; A. Taylor, Hamlet; L. S. Meyers, Burgaw; W. S. Lancaster and W. T. Owen, Hamlet; C. H. Smith, Makatoka; S. F. Thompson, Jonesboro; F. W. Davis, Elizabethtown.

LOCAL DOTS.

—The mine planter Gen. E. O. E. Ord, which has been spending several weeks at Fort Caswell, engaged in planting mines for practice at that post, came up to the city yesterday for coal. She will leave Caswell some time this week and will proceed down the coast for similar service at other posts.

NEGRO DESPERADO CAUGHT.

Shot Southern Railroad Conductor Near Greensboro.

Asheville, N .C., April 22.—Joe White, the negro desperado who two weeks ago shot and seriously wounded R. C. Bell, a Southern Railway conductor, while the latter was on top of his train near High Point, was arrested at Greenville, S. C., this afternoon by Special Agent G. . Scarlet, and South Carolina officers.

White admits the shooting of Bell. He also confessed to shooting Patrolman Tucker, of Danville, some months ago. He is now in Salisbury jail.

Asheville, N. C., April 22.—Judge J. C. Pritchard, of the United States Circuit Court, left this afternoon on a second speaking tour of the Northern States in behalf of the Colored Training School, and Chautauqua at Durham, N. C.

MR. GWALTNEY THE CHAMPION

Won the President's Cup in Golf Tournament Yesterday—Closest Match Between Messrs. Holt and Gouverneur.

The finals in the Cape Fear Golf Club championship tournament were held yesterday afternoon and the matches were watched by a large crowd. Mr. Robert H. Gwaltney won the championship for the year.

In the first flight Mr. Gwaltney defeated Mr. W. A. Towne by a score of 10 up and 8 to play. He was in fine form and his score for the first round was 5 5 4 3 6 4 4 5 4—40. The winning of this flight carried with it the championship of the club and also the cup given by the president.

Mr. J. W. Carmichael won in the second flight over Mr. W. A. Fisher by a score of 4 up and 3 to play, and won the vice president's cup.

The third flight was between Mr. E. C. Holt and Mr. M. F. H. Gouverneur and was won by the former by the score of 2 up and 1 to play. This was the closest match in the finals and when they had finished the 16th hole Mr. Holt had Mr. Gouverneur dormie 2. The 17th hole was halved in six giving the match to Mr. Holt.

The surprise of the finals was the playing of Mr. H. M. Shaw, who defeated Mr. W. R. Sullivan by score of 4 up and 3 to play, winning the cup given by the governing board. Mr. Shaw is a beginner at golf, having taken up the game this season, but he is an experienced athlete and showed good form from the start.

After the finals the players and members of the club went to the club house where the prizes were awarded by Mr. George Rountree in a most appropriate talk.

In addition to cup awarded the winner in each flight, half a dozen golf balls were presented to each winner by the club. Cups are given in each flight by the following officers: George Rountree, president; John J. Blair, vice president; R. H. Gwaltney, captain, and by the governing board.

WHITE MAN RAN AMUCK.

Endeavored to Cut Member of Bar. Others Before Recorder.

Defendants in the Recorder's Court yesterday morning were charged with more serious crimes than usual and the four tried got sentences aggregating 22 months.

J. J. Harrell, a white man, was indicted under two warrants, one charging assault with a deadly weapon upon A. S. Williams, Esq., and the other resisting an officer. Mr. Williams, who is a prominent member of the local bar, stated that while returning to his office from the postoffice Friday night Harrell attempted to cut him and he experienced a great deal of difficulty in escaping injury. He said he had never seen the man before and he appeared to be very drunk. The officer who first attempted to make the arrest had trouble and Harrell was so unruly that another officer had to be called.

Harrell said he knew nothing whatever of what occurred Friday night. Recorder Furlong did not regard this as sufficient and gave Harrell six months on the roads in each case.

John McKoy, colored, was given a term of six months for assaulting Randle Davis. The weapon used was a brick.

Dancey Lewis, indicted for vagrancy, and supposed to be one of the negroes who were having three barrels of beer moved one night the first of last week from 13th and Queen streets to Seventh and Ann, where a negro pool room is located, was given 30 days.

Herbert Harris, a negro employed by the Barden Motor Company and who was charged with committing an assault with a deadly weapon upon Mr. F. Warlick, an employe of the Motor Company, will have to serve on the roads for 90 days. The warrant, however, had to be amended and the indictment under which Harris was tried charged carrying a concealed weapon.

CLOSED SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

Dell School Taking High Place Among Secondary Institutions.

The most successful term of the Dell High School, near Rose, closed Friday with appropriate exercises. The programme was a very interesting one, consisting of a literary address delivered by Rev. T. W. O'Kelly, of the First Baptist church, Raleigh, music by two quartettes, one composed of young men and one of young ladies, a number of vocal and piano solos and duets, declamations, essays and recitations.

This school, though only nine years old, is taking a high place among the Baptist secondary schools of the State. The attendance this year was about 200, being about a third larger than during any previous year.

FREED THREE AMERICANS.

Diaz Ordered Their Release From Mexican Prison.

El Paso, Texas, April 22.—Lawrence F. Converse, of Glendora, Cal., Edwin Blatt, of Pittsburg, Pa., and Richard Brown, of El Paso, held in prison in Juarez, were released here at 12:30 today on orders from President Diaz. Brown was with the insurrecto hospital corps and had not borne arms. Converse and Blatt had borne arms and were arrested by Mexican Federals on Texas soil.

Three Governors Endorse the McKanna 3-Day Liquor Cure

Three famous Governors know the merits of the McKanna Treatment, and all endorse it. Thousands of other men of learning and standing also know about and endorse it, but it would cost hundreds of dollars to buy enough space in this paper to print their names.

THE QUESTION IS, DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THE Mc-KANNA TREATMENT? IF YOU DON'T, WHY DON'T YOU? YOU either need the Treatment yourself, or you KNOW INTIMATELY somebody who does. If YOU need the Treatment, do the right thing—come and take it. If you know somebody else who needs it, do the right thing, and send HIM.

If You Don't Know, Ask Your Neighbor

EX-GOVERNOR GLENN'S FIRST AND SECOND LETTERS:

What ex-Governor Glenn says:

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 6, 1906.

Dr. J. J. McKanna,
Reidsville, N. C.

My Dear Doctor—

From what has been reported to me as to your three-day liquor cure by gentlemen in whom I have the utmost confidence, and from the further fact that I myself have sent to you patients who were terribly addicted to strong drink, who have been cured of the habit after taking your treatment, I have no hesitancy in saying that I believe that your cure will prove a great blessing to humanity, and I sincerely trust that the unfortunate ones who have contracted the liquor habit may avail themselves of an opportunity to effect a permanent cure. So firmly convinced am I of the efficacy of your treatment, that it is my intention to recommend to others the advisability of consulting you, as I feel sure that they will receive the same benefits as patients whom I have heretofore sent to you. Wishing you success, I am,

Yours very truly,

R. B. GLENN, Governor.

(Original letter on file in our office.)

Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 30, 1908.

Dr. J. J. McKanna,
Reidsville, N. C.

My Dear Doctor—

Since writing the within letter on Sept. 6, 1909, I not only have no reason to change the views therein expressed, but from what I have seen with my own eyes and heard from the very best of our citizens, I am still firm of the opinion that the McKanna 3-Day Liquor Cure is a great blessing to the human race and can, therefore, recommend and indorse it.

Yours very truly,

R. B. GLENN, Governor.

GOVERNOR KITCHIN'S LETTER:

What Gov. Kitchin says:

The following is a part of a petition which Governor William W. Kitchin sent out to the entire press of North Carolina last July:

"The Governor has received the following petition, which he deems of sufficient importance to give to the press:

"The Governor says he has known Dr. McKanna for some years and he hopes much advantage will be taken of his liberal proposition of free treatment.

"The Governor's information is that the Treatment has been very successful and the character of the men signing the petition is a guarantee both of the good faith of the proposition and the success of the Treatment."

GOVERNOR BLEASE'S LETTER:

State of South Carolina—Executive Chamber, Columbia,

April 20th, 1911.

To Whom it May Concern:

I have known Dr. J. J. McKanna for some years. I know something of his work, and know him as a man. I have found him to always be strictly straight-forward in his dealings; seen the effect of his work; know it to be good, and one particular case, in which I was personally interested, a cure was effected, which I thought almost impossible. It was certainly wonderful to be accomplished in the few days, and for more than five years the party has abstained absolutely from the use of any intoxicants; and, if necessary, I would not hesitate to give his name to the public.

Very respectfully,

(Signed) COLE L. BLEASE, Governor.

There is no excuse for your not knowing that the McKanna Treatment ABSOLUTELY and PERMANENTLY removes all desire for liquor in three days, in a nice, easy way; that there are no harsh drugs nor dangerous hypodermic injections used; that the patient feels improved from the very first dose of medicine, is built up and strengthened in every way, and will NEVER have a physical need or desire for "that first drink."

Write, 'phone or telegraph for further information.

RENEWED ACTIVITY IN COTTON

Upward Movement Continues as Result of Firm Cables—Close Steady at Advance of Five to Nine Points.

New York, April 22.—The upward movement continued in the cotton market today as a result of very firm cables, reports of an improved spot demand and bullish statistics, with the old crop as represented by July contracts, selling above 15 cents, for the first time since last January. The close was very steady, at a net advance of 5@9 points, or within a point of the best, on old crop positions. The new crop was relatively quiet and easy, owing to the favorable weather map. The market opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of four points in sympathy with the cables. There was considerable realizing for over the week-end, but bulls gave support when the market hesitated, the New Orleans wires showed a very firm market there, and the local short interest soon began to cover more actively. Realizing increased on the advance to 15 cents for July, and it looked as though some of the big bulls were taking profits in a moderate way, but on every little recession they gave renewed support, sending July to 15.01 before the close, and the last bid for that position was at 15 cents. Active old crop positions at the close of business today showed an advance of about 125 to 127 points from the low level of February 16th, the bulk of this gain having occurred during the past three weeks as a result of the sharp falling off in receipts and the rapid decrease in the world's visible supply. There appears to have been some improvement in spot demand, yesterday's reports indicating large sales at several of the leading Southern markets, where the stocks are smaller than at this time last year, and the old crop short interest showed even signs of increasing nervousness during today's trading.

Receipts of cotton at the ports today, 6,015 bales, against 6,825 last week and 18,137 last year.

Today's receipts at New Orleans, 1,986 bales, against 5,191 last year.

Spot closed quiet, ten points higher; middling uplands, 15.10; middling gulf, 15.35. No sales.

Cotton futures opened steady and closed very steady.

THE GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, April 22.—Corn today had the greatest advance for weeks, and the biggest trade of the year. Startling reports of widespread crop failure in the Argentine brought about the upheaval. Closing prices were firm, ¼@⅝ to &c. higher than last year. The end of the day left wheat ½ to ⅝c. dearer to ⅛ down, with oats unchanged to ⅛c. off. In provisions, the outcome was a gain all roudn, varying from 12½ to 30@32½c. net.

Wheat—No. 2, red, 91@92; No. 3, red, 89@91; No. 2, hard, 91@93½; No. 3, hard, 89@91½; No. 1, northern, 1.02@1.04; No. 2, northern, 1.00@1.03; No. 3, northern, 1.00@1.02; No. 2, spring, 95@1.00; No. 3, spring, 92@98; velvet chaff, 88@98; durum, 83@89.

UNSETTLED IN STOCK MARKET

Movement Directed Against the Market Leaders—Activity During Early Trading—Features Yesterday.

New York, April 22.—Unsettlement was shown by today's stock market from the outset. Stocks were sold actively, the number of shares traded in during the two hours of today's session exceeding the total number of yesterday's full day. The movement was directed against the market leaders, especially United States Steel, which in the early trading fell to 73¼. Other shares fell off in sympathy, the weakness extending to virtually the whole list.

Much of the selling was obviously for the short account, but it required no stretch of imagination to assume that a part of the business reported unloading of long stock held by speculative interests, which have finally tired of the market's extreme dullness and many vagaries.

One of the few exceptions to the general heaviness was American Cotton Oil, which was steady today, after its severe decline of the week, and closed with a substantial gain, a dividend reduction apparently having been discounted.

The bond market was easier. Total sales, par value, $1,465,000. United States Government bonds were unchanged on call on the week. Total sales for the day were 208,800 shares.

NATIONAL MANUFACTURERS.

Association Will Meet in New York, May 15th, 16th and 17th.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New York, April 22.—The sixteenth Annual Convention of the National Association of Manufacturers, of which John Kirby, Jr., is president, will be held at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, on May 15th, 16th and 17th. Advance notices of this convention indicates that it will be the most important held in the history of the association. In issuing the call for the convention President Kirby urges upon members the advisability—in fact the necessity—of their personal attendance. He adds.

"There has never been a period when the country's industrial interests have been confronted with so many vital problems as in the present year of 1911. It may also be added that never before has organization been so urgently needed and discussion so important to the welfare of the nation's industries. The sixteenth Annual Convention, therefore, comes at a time when every manufacturer finds himself face to face with conditions strongly affecting the future safe-conduct of his business. The problems which will claim the attention of the coming meeting are many and vital, including labor in its various ramifications, also the great constructive policy interwoven in the prevention of accidents and the equitable solution of the urgent question of industrial relief."

Results of the investigations made in Europe by the Association's special commissioners, Messrs. F. C. Schwedtman and James A. Emery, covering the very timely and important subjects of accident prevention and industrial relief, will be presented in the form of a voluminous report to the convention.

In all probability, one entire day and evening will be devoted to the subjects. Addresses will be made by men prominently identified with the problem, and discussions will be held. An important feature connected with accident prevention and industrial insurance will be the displaying of a great number of lantern slides, illustrating not only the experiences of Germany, but also conditions in the United States. The fact that fully one million persons are injured yearly in the industries, and that under our present laws it required an expenditure of more than seventeen million dollars to administer nine million dollars for the benefit of injured employes in 1909, indicates the vital importance of the subject to labor, capital and the general public alike.

A special feature will also be made of banking and currency, and the attitude of our manufacturers toward the plans recently proposed to reform our inadequate banking and currency systems will be discussed. Other questions of economic importance, such as immigration, industrial education, a reform of our patent laws and the creation of an independent Tariff Commission of experts will also be considered.

The sessions will be open to the general public and the Association extends a cordial invitation to all manufacturers to attend, whether members of the association or not.

Kicked by a Mad Horse.

Samuel Birch, of Beetown, Wis., had a most narrow escape from losing his leg, as no doctor could heal the frightful sore that developed, but at last Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it completely. Its the greatest healer of ulcers, burns, boils, eczema, scalds, cuts, corns, cold-sores, bruises and piles on earth. Try it. 25c at R. R. Bellamy's.

would be a great convenience not only to passengers desiring to come to Raleigh and return same day, but to passengers desiring to go to points West of Raleigh and to Asheville and Western North Carolina resorts.

While petitioners did not undertake to give the volume of traffic yet, according to testimony of witnesses, on a recent occasion about 50 passengers from Raleigh had to stay over in Goldsboro all night.

That if this service wa inaugurated it would be possible for a passenger to leave Wilmington at 4:00 A. M. and arrive in Asheville at 7:00 P. M. same day.

That it would also be possible for passengers to go to Rocky Mount, Richmond, Norfolk, Kinston and other points and back the same day.

That there is considerable local travel to Goldsboro from points intermediate between Wilmington and Goldsboro as evidenced not only by testimony of witnesses but by exhibit of respondent showing that there were 2,498 tickets sold under present schedules during the month of January, to Goldsboro alone, and adding the same number for the reverse way would give 4,996 tickets to and from intermediate points and to points beyond Goldsboro.

That passengers local to Goldsboro are greatly inconvenienced by reason of present schedules in that it is impossible to go to Goldsboro, attend to any business of any moment, do any shopping, and return the same day.

That people having to attend court at Goldsboro, there being six courts a year, living 10 20 or 30 miles distance cannot leave home in the morning and reach there in time for court but have to go the day before, and if kept until 3 oclock the next day have to remain over two nights.

That the traveling salesmen, Wilmington being headquarters for a large number, are inconvenienced for lack of an early train out of Wilmington.

That the morning daily paper of Wilmington and mail, under present schedule, does not reach intermediate points until a late hour in the morning, too late for distribution through the rural routes.

That the passenger facilities between Goldsboro and Wilmington have not increased in the last 12 years (see testimony of L. M. Michaux. That the passenger ervice between Goldsboro and Wilmington is not as good as it was 25 years ago. (See testimony of S. P. Best).

That there is not a city in the State of any size that has not an early morning train carrying passengers running out in every direction, and giving better service than respondent gives Wilmington. Out of Wilmington South, over its own line, it has an early morning train and three trains daily. Even at Goldsboro there are three trains a day carrying passengers in every direction except Goldsboro to Wilmington, where there are only two trains.

The relief sought in this case is through authority granted the Commission as provided in Section 1066 Revisal and Chapter 460, Laws of 1907.

Section 1066: "The Corporation Commission shall have general control and supervision of all railroad companies * * * * and all other companies engaged in the transportation of freight and passengers * * * * and to require all transportation companies to establish and maintain all such public service facilities and conveniences as may be reasonable and just.'

Chapter 460, Public Laws 1907: 'To require, when practicable and when the necessities of the traveling public, in the judgment of the Corporation Commission, demand, that any railroad in this State shall install and operate one or more passenger or freight trains over its road, and also require any two or more railroads having intersecting points to make close connection at such points; provided that no order under this act shall be made unless the business of the railroad justifies it."

However, the question of jurisdiction has been well defined and settled by decision of the higher courts.

It will be noted that the Commission can require additional passenger train service when the necessities of the traveling public, in the judgment of the Commission, demand it, the only provision being that the business of the road justify it. Respondent did not undertake to show that the business of the road would not justify it, but admitted that the earnings from the passenger trains alone now running between Goldsboro and Wilmington would show a profit after providing for the expense of running an additional train. The Wilmington and Weldon division of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad is and has been the most prosperous road in the State, and that part of the road from Wilmington to Goldsboro being the best part of it, being the throat or main artery of the system through the counties of New Hanover, Pender, Duplin, Sampson and Wayne with lands rich and fertile, being a prosperous agricukural country, with a population, according to the last census, of 138,630 inhabitants; Wilmington with a population of 25,748; Goldsboro with a population of approximately 7,000 and 18 progressive towns intermediate with no better passenger facilities than many years ago.

The business men of Wilmington, the business men of Goldsboro, of Warsaw, Mount Olive, Clinton and each of the 18 towns intermediate feel that they are entitled to better passenger ervice, and are appealing, united, earnest, asking that the respondent be required to grant the relief asked and in doing so are of the opinion that the additional service asked for will be profitable to the road, and if it proves not to be, are willing that it be discontinued, and are not insisting that it be operated at a loss.

The Commission is of the opinion that the convenience and necessities of the traveling public require and demand additional passenger train service between Wilmington and Goldsboro. The question now is the scheduling of an additional passenger train that will best serve the communities through which the train runs and the traveling public. Subsequent to hearing at Goldsboro the General Superintendent of respondent road was called in conference with the Commission and was asked to suggest any other schedule that would best serve the convenience of the traveling public, but none was offered. Petitioners ask that such service be established as petitioned for, alleging that by such they would have satisfactory local service between Wilmington and Goldsboro and at the same time have the benefit of through connections to points beyond Goldsboro, East, West and North. A suggestion was made to petitioners that the local travel between Goldsboro and Wilmington would be best served by an entirely local train without regard to any connections at Goldsboro, running between Goldsboro and Wilmington in the day time, but petitioners insist upon service as petitioned for, thus giving them the benefit of both local and through service.

All the evidence introduced and presented, with other information before it, with the petitions signed by leading business men of all towns through the section the service is rendered asking for this schedule, the Commission is led to the conclusion that the schedules asked for should be granted.

Will the earnings of the road justify it? The respondent has not undertaken to say it will not. The reports filed in this office show that the total earnings of the road in North Carolina for the year 1900 to be $3,763,025.00. For the year 1910 the passenger earnings were $1,853,956.21, freight earnings $5,988,726.09, total earnings $7,842,682.36; operating expenses $4,921,657.75; income from operation $2,921,024.61. Thus we find that the earnings of the road in North Carolina have more than doubled in the past ten years. Its total earnings, less operating expenses, for the year 1910 is nearly as much as the total earnings amounted to ten years ago.

Its dividend record is well known. As before stated the road runs through the most prosperous section of the system. During the year ending December 31st, 1910, 285,685 passengers were handled from stations, Wilmington and intermediate points, to Goldsboro and the revenue derived therefrom amounted to $189,095. This does not include number of passenger passing over the road who do not stop at or depart from stations between Wilmington and Goldsboro. Revenue from freight forwarded and received from stations, Wilmington to Goldsboro, $1,123,427. It would be absurd to say the earnings would not justify the expense of this additional service, and, again, it is reasonable to suppose that with the increased prosperous conditions all along the line as is shown by the increased revenues of the road, that increased passenger facilities would be necessary for the convenience of the traveling public.

The Commission is of the opinion in this case that the convenience and necessities of the traveling public demand, and that it is practicable that respondent operate an additional passenger trains between Wilmington and Goldsboro daily by extending its train No. 91 arriving in Goldsboro at 9:55 P. M. to Wilmington and returning leave Wilmington at about 4:00 A. M. in order to make connection with Southern Railway train No. 21, or by providing transportation for passengers by an additional train for Wilmington leaving upon the arrival of train No. 91 and returning leave Wilmington at about 4:00 A. M. or in time to make connection with Southern Railway train No. 21 and respondent's train No. 90 scheduled to leave at 7:00 A. M. It is, therefore,

ORDERED. That additional passenger train facilities be provided accordingly beginning on or before the 15th day of May, 1911.

TUBERCULOSIS DAY.

Champ Clark, Dr. Cadman, Bishop Scarborough and Others Approve.

Ne wYork, April 22.—Statements of opinion approving Tuberculosis Day, which will be observed on or about April 30th, from prominent clerical, medical and lay authorities were issued today in the form of a bulletin by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Among those who have endorsed the movement are His Eminence, Cardinal Gibbons and several Roman Catholic bishops, many prominent bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church, several denominational and interdenominational societies, Drs. S. Adolphus Knopf and Lawrence F. Flick, Hon. Champ Clark, many prominent clergymen and others.

Champ Clark, in a letter to the National Association, says: "I am in deep sympathy with the movement which your association is doing so much to forward. We cannot learn too much about the dread scourge, for we cannot intelligently fight that which we do not thoroughly understand. Knowledge is power."

Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of Brooklyn, says: "I sincerely trust that your war on tuberculosis will prosper. It is a real war and should have the support of every right minded citizen and of all our churches of every kind. We remember with great pleasure and equal profit the tuberculosis day of 1910."

The Right Rev. W. H. Moreland, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Sacramento, writes: "I pledge my hearty support and that of the clergy of this diocese to the movement for the prevention of tuberculosis."

The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis will furnish free of charge material for preaching on tuberculosis to any clergyman applying at its office, 105 East 22nd street, New York.

that other arrests involving prominent labor leaders will follow and that the theory of the prosecution in the case will be that the explosion was the result of a conspiracy formed for the purpose of retaliating upon the newspaper for the stand it had taken in a strike of the structural iron and brewery trades, and for its attitude toward union labor.

Gen. H. G. Otis, owner of the Times, when interviewed in regard to the arrest made the following statement:

"I have not yet had sufficient information regarding the reported arrest of one McNamara in Indianapolis, charged with the dynamiting in Los Angeles to make a complete statement. But I can say that the search for the suspected dynamiters who blew up the Times building on the first of October, 1910, and later attempted to blow up the Llewellyn Iron Works, have been most persistent. The authorities have literally camped on the trails of the fleeing criminals. District Attorney Fredericks, of this county, sent out more than 60,000 specific descriptions of the indicted dynamiters, Bryce, Caplan and Schmidt, coupled with offers of large rewards in the event of detection, arrest and punishment.

"A reward of $25,000 was offered by the local authorities for the arrest and conviction of the perpetrators of the crime, and that sum was swelled by other rewards offered by the State and various organizations."

Stripling is Informed.

Columbus, Ga., April 22.—Thomas Edgar Stripling, former chief of police of Danville, Va., who is confined in the county jail here awaiting the outcome of his petition for pardon for the killing of William J. Cornett, was informed tonight that the governor had declined to approve the recommendation of pardon by the prison commission. Stripling displayed no emotion and when asked if he had any comment, merely replied: "I have nothing to say."

ICE! ICE!! ICE!!!
-:-YES-:-
ICE! ICE!! and ICE!!!

One might almost be led to believe that this community had never seen Pure Ice until this good year 1911.

A great man once said "there is nothing new under the sun" and this is so to a great extent when it comes to the manufacture of ice.

Now, as a matter of fact, The Independent Ice Company has been for ten years and is still making as pure, as clean, as healthful to use ice as can be found in all North Carolina. We defy anyone to prove to the contrary. Our prices are as low as the lowest. We give full guaranteed weight. Our service is the best Wilmington ever had. We have a polite, accommodating corps of officials who will thank any one to report any act of neglect or discourtesy on the part of our wagon drivers or helpers.

Do the right thing for yourselves and for ourselves by taking ice from the old reliable.

OTHER SIDE OF QUESTION AS TO SEWERAGE SYSTEM

Mr. Meares Gives Some Facts He Says Public Should Know—Objections to Present System Considered—Public Utility Law Explained—"Square Deal" is Asked—Attorney's Statement.

(By Iredell Meares.)

Everybody knows that municipal ownership of a public utility means private annihilation of corporate systems. Where private enterprise has installed such utilities there is a sense of right in most communities, where they exist, to take them over at their fair value when public ownership is projected. One may say that the sewerage company and bondholders took their chances. That is true. And one of the chances it took was the general American spirit that pervades most communities to deal fairly and equtably by investors who contribute by their means to the communities, development. It is the power of the State Legislature to build and operate railroads. It is resolved to do so, would it be fair, even when having the power, to build a railroad from Wilmington to Rutherford, parallelling the Seaboard, within a hundred yards of its main track? Would it be fair for the national government, if it adopted the policp of railroad ownership, to build parallel lines, within a few hundred yards of existing interstate railroads? It would have the power. Then, the State or national government, could both control its own railroads and regulate its competitors. It could be said that the railroad companies took their chances against gvernment ownership, but that argument would not make it right.

The case would be none the less inexcusable in this city with reference to the present system of sewerage for it would have power to control its own system and regulate that of the sewerage company, and put the latter, whose property is not removable, out of business, or greatly impair its value by municipal regulation and competition.

The sewerage question will not down. It might have been appropriately left to the solution of the incoming administration, without prejudicing a purely business proposition before it is understood and the facts weighed. Its constant interjection into this campaign leads to this statement. There are two sides to every question. That of the owners of the present system has not been stated. There is a great deal of public criticism made about the system and misapprehension about the recent public utility law passed by the Legislature. It is apparently popular in certain quarters to deride the sewer plant. Its owners reside in Philadelphia. They have no votes. What boots it, if in hysterical resentment, we wipe out their investment? They need not have invested their money here. And, in proportion to the prevalence of this spirit, may future investments of capital in this city be prevented.

After all, there is a second sober sense, which actuates men, and to this sober sense of our citizens, I would address myself. I have no personal or professional relations to the Wilmington Sewerage Company. I do professionally represent certain of its bondholders. I would not unload, if I could, an inefficient sewer system on this city, nor consciously aid in doing my city, county, State or nation a wrong. That would be unpatriotic and unprofessional. I would speak as a citizen and of facts I have investigated. I ask an impartial hearing of the open-minded citizen, who wants to know both sides of the question, before he forms his opinion. I have no fear of the people, when they are informed, and believe they will justify proper consideration being given the investors in the present plant. Knowledge is never a co-partner with ignorance. The one is self-poised, the other is self-opinionated.

I would request every fair-minded citizen, therefore, to ask himself the question: What do I know about it? If you know it all, I cannot enlighten you; if you do not, then I invite you to consider these pregnant facts:

First: The present sewerage system was built to plans prepared by Mr. Rudolph Hering, a noted sanitary engineer, as modified upon the suggestion and by agreement of the local and State Boards of Health. The public records show these facts.

Second: These plans were approved by the local Board of Health, the State Board of Health, after its engineer investigated the situation, and the Board of Aldemen. The system was laid by expert sewer constructors under the inspection of the late Mr. Jos. F. McRee, and the late Mr. S. P. Adams, civil engineers, who were designated by the city authorities to supervise the work on behalf of the city. The public records show these facts.

Third: The system has been in active operation since 1901, it consists of 23 miles of main sewers and about 10 miles of lateral connections, represents an investment of over $200,000, and its efficiency is demonstrated by its actual satisfactory working.

Fourth: It has not been condemned by any sanitary engineer, as alleged, but to the contrary, has been declared by one of the most distinguished sanitary engineers of this counrty, after his recent inspection, to be "in all respects a proper and sanitary system well adapted to serve the City of Wilmington."

Fifth: It has filled a want declared by the Board of Aldermen, in 1901, to have been "imperatively necessary for the public convenience and the public health;" and it has relieved the City in the past ten years of the necessity of expending many thousands of dollars for the removal of night soil.

Sixth: It was installed by private enterprise, after the citizens of Wilmington voted down in 1891 the proposition to build public sewers, by a vote of 2,305 to 296, and after the corporate authorities later refused in 1901 to re-submit the question to popular vote.

Seventh: Every dictate of the "square deal," as between the City and the investors, now we have changed our mind about public ownership, demands that fair consideration be accorded to the present owners before attempting to annihiliate the present system, without compensation, or to establish a public competitive system, along the same streets, which would be mutually ruinous.

Eighth: The investment has never been profitable either to the company or to its bondholders, who are now in control of the plant. It has little more than paid since it was constructed its operating expense. Notwithstanding this, it has been maintained and enlarged at the expense of foreign capital, and it has rendered, and is now rendering, satisfactory service to its patrons, as they will bear witness, and indirectly a benefit to the general public in affording better sanitary conditions.

Ninth: The company has never sought to unload the system upon the City. After the citizens two years ago determined upon public ownership, the company realized that there would be no reason to extend its system, following the new water mains, and in view of public ownership, it did propose that itself and the City should appoint expert sanitary engineers, each selecting one and the two selected appointing the third, to determine the efficiency and value of the plant; and, if the City would agree to purchase the company would agree to sell at the value fixed by these arbiters; but the city authorities ignored the proposition without the scant courtesy of an acknowledgment of the proposal.

Tenth: The City on its own initiative appointed Messrs. Humphreys, Lucas and Rapalje to examine the present sewer system. Neither of these gentlemen ever designed, operated or constructed a sewerage system. Sewer design and construction, while a branch of engineering, is an art in itself, requiring specialized knowledge and experience. They made objections to the system, which were afterwards shown to be futile by Mr. George T. Hammond, one of the leading sanitary experts of this country, with an international reputation and who is now in charge of the Bureau of Sewer Design for the Borough of Brooklyn; and their objections are shown to be groundless by the successful and practical operation of the plant, for positive facts disprove opposite theories.

Eleventh—Messrs. Hazelhurst & Anderson, who are experienced engineers, were employed by the Water and Sewerage Commission to design a sewerage system. They were not asked to report upon the present system, or to consider the feasibility of incorporating it in a more extensive system, but were instructed to design a system, without regard to the present one. They have never suggested or reported, not having been employed for the purpose, that the present system was not efficient for the area it covers, or that it could not be made a part of a more enlarged system.

Twelfth — The proposed system called for a large concrete main sewer running along Nutt and Water streets, north to South, with which the smaller sewers will connect, and emptying at or near the foot of Kidder street, into the river. It is feasible, therefore, if this plan is approved by the State Board of Health, to run the present sewers into this Water street main, and, if so, what reason is there for laying new sewers along streets where there are now sewers operating satisfactorily, and changing 960 connections at the expense of present users of the system, which would cost, perhaps, $25,000.

Thirteenth — The first sewer system designed by Hazlehurst & Anderson was estimated to cost, for the main pipes only, $181,000. The Commission, by eliminating some of the proposed mains, reduced the estimated cost to about $155,000. This did not include the lateral pipes, running from the curb stones to the main sewers, which were estimated to cost in addition about $33,000.

This plan was disapproved by the State Board of Health because emptied at Ann street, too near the water supply intake.

Thereupon, they designed a second plan, which has been submitted to but has not yet been approved by the State Board of Health, which empties at Kidder street. This second plan carries with it an additional estimated cost of $60,000, or, as will be seen, a total estimate of $248,000, for both mains, and laterals. This is for thirty miles or main and affords opportunity for 4,080 house connections. The city has about ——— miles of streets. The present system has about 23 miles of main, about 10 miles of laterals, and affords opportunity for about 2,500 house connections. So far for the engineers estimates. Did ever actual costs square with engineers' estimates? It will be interesting to answer when the building is completed of a concrete sewer along Water street, in marsh mud and new-made soil.

But suppose you build it, within the estimates, all, then, you would have would be 1,580 opportunities for sewer connections more than you have now—and not a third of your streets sewered. In other words, by building sewers where sewers now are, you afford 2,500 double opportunities for sewerage connection, one with the public and one with the private system, which would be unnecessary, and get only 1,580 opportunities for connections, which don't exist now, while two-thirds of your streets would still remain unsewered. Common sense would suggest that you sewer streets in outlying parts of the town, and leave the present system to cover its present area of work.

Fourteenth—We voted $500,000 for water works and sewerage. We have expended $360,000 for water works, and we have not water your doctor will approve your drinking, nor the mains on half of the many miles of your streets. We have $140,000 left for the sewerage. It will not build the proposed new system. The Supreme Court has held that, while city authorities may expend money for sewerage as a necessary expense, without a vote by the people, yet when the people having voted to expend a given sum, the city authorities cannot exceed that limit, even out of the general funds. So, as $140,000 will not build the sewers as proposed, the expenditure of the money might have resulted in only a partial building of sewers, if not a waste.

Fifteenth—The Supreme Court of the United States has held that while a city, which has authorized the building of a public utility by a private corporation may build its own like system, in the absence of an authorized contract restricting its right to do so, yet it cannot interfere with the operation of the system of the private corporation, or impair its vested rights. This being so, the Wilmington Sewerage Company cannot be divested of its chartered priv-

CAMPAIGN FOR THE SENATE

Rumblings Are Being Heard in Washington—How It Looks From That Vantage to "Red Buck."

(By H. E. C. Bryant.)

Washington, D. C., April 22.—Representative Kitchin's speech on the Canadian reciprocity bill last Saturday was more than an advocacy of the measure. It will be used as a campaign document in North Carolina.

Mr. Kitchin, who in my opinion, is the most attractive speaker in the House, spoke with great force. Being large, well proportioned and handsome, he is pleasing to look upon. Therefore, towering above the ordinary Congressman as he does, he carries the House, floor, galleries and all with him. In places his argument is faulty and vulnerable, but as a rule plausible and logical, and his admirers so idolize him that the holes in his armor shrink into insignificance during the performance to reappear after it is over.

Some persons, among them a few of Mr. Kitchin's real friends, are criticising him for using the party lash so vigorously, especially on North Carolina Democrats who do not agree with him. Others excuse him on the ground that he had a right to get even with Senator Simmons, who is a rival of Brother Will, for sending anti-reciprocity literature—a Simmons speech—to the State and giving out an interview against House leaders Clark and Underwood.

Regardless of what is said or what was intended, the Kitchin speech hit harder in the State than it did here. North Carolina political differences crop out here so often that the average newspaper man in the press gallery knows all about the Kitchin and Simmons factions. But, after all, Tar Heel politicians are not unlike other politicians. The Texas delegation is divided into hostile camps. So is that of Georgia. Boil it all down and you will find the leaders of one party in the way of the leaders of the other party. Carried to its final analysis you will find more pie than patriotism.

As was predicted in this correspondence some time ago, North Carolina is on the eve of a bitter campaign between opposing candidates for the United States Senate. The Kitchin and Simmons schools will fight over their difference, which in short, is the highest office within the gift of the people, while the ordinary citizen grins and bears it. Thousands of men who do not care a tinker's dam about either Senator Simmons or Governor Kitchin, and would like a rest from both, are going to be forced into a personal, partisan controversy, which will not be edifying or harmonizing. There is no way to stop it. Individual ambitions sweep it on. The Democratic party must suffer for it. Two men cannot occupy one and the same office at one and the same time.

The Simmons reciprocity speech and the Simmons interviews and the Kitchin speech are part of the game. The men are armed to the teeth and the battle lines are forming. Senator Simmons has declared in favor of a primary. This is a call to arms. The little warrior must be ready.

But this will be the last battle between the Simmonses and the Kitchins of the present generation. It is almost time to change. Soon Senator Simmons and Governor Kitchin will be has-beens. Fifteen years is about as long as one man can stay in the limelight in North Carolina nowadays. The Outs are eager to get in and the Ins will have to get out. It is the same old story. In North Carolina the situation is interesting. There are no issues. The negro is out of politics. Prohibition seems fixed. The "progressive" humbuggery is not taking. The rank and file of the voters are not enthusing much over the non-partisan Canadian reciprocity measure. The referendum, the initiative and the recall might be propagated at Raleigh if those interested were not afraid somebody might dig up one of Mary Ann Butler's old campaign books and accuse them, as Bryan does Roosevelt, of stealing old clothes. There is nothing left for the North Carolina agitators but whirlwind movements. The only real thing in sight is the coming battle between that pugnacious "reactionary", whatever that means, and Brother Bill. Last Summer it was Carl Duncan and Mot Morehead. Now it is F. M. Simmons and W. W. Kitchin. Choose your partners and all promenade.

The Kitchin speech did not set well with any of the members who voted for a duty on lumber in 1909. When asked by Davis, of Minnesota, if he voted for a tariff on lumber he answered in the negative. "How did others in your delegation vote?" he was asked. Whereupon he turned, smiling from ear to ear, and said: "Boys, I am ashamed to tell him."

This was in a jocular spirit but it has been converted into an attack. The blow that struck to the heart was the charge that the North Carolinians who voted to retain a duty on lumber were hand in glove with John Dalzell and the one of them that would not vote for the Canadian reciprocity bill was still with the stand-pat Republican. This riled Mr. Webb. However, the gentleman from the Ninth does not believe that any Democrat in the district will believe that he is a Republican.

CLEAN UP THE TOWN.

"Get to Work, Mister," Is Admonition of Homely Philosopher.

"For de love of God, Mister, let up on the City Beautiful and just go to work, say nothing and make it beautiful, and clean, and mosquitoless (threee attempts to spell the dern word correct, and I aint sure if it is right yet).

The whole thing reminds me of a nice little story my people used to put up to me to make me get down to business. It went something like this: an old crow had her nest in a corn field, and every morning when she took her usual trip foraging for her young, she said to them, now children keep your eyes skinned and tell mammie everything that has happened when I get back. Well one Fall day they overheard the "One-Horse Farmer' say: "Well, I guess we will gather this corn in tomorrow, as Brothers Jones and Smith and Brown are coming over to help me." "Well children," the old crow said, when she was told this piece of startling news, "you need not worry, there will be plenty of time, and this same old talk was repeated for several days, until one day they heard the "One-Horse Farmer" says: "Well, I'll just get in here tomorrow and move this "crap" myself, as these other guys seem to be so dern busy." When this was told to the mother crow said, "children we will vamoose tomorrow."

Of course, it don't take all of these would-bee councilmen to see the point. (Of course this has no illusions or reference to these gents, but thought they were up for smartness.)

The first impression about a city or any thing for that matter, is the one that get's in it's work, and when the train from the South, and the train from the North, and the train from up the Seaboard, and the train from Newbern, and the train from Sanford come in, most always ahead of time, and comes down the line slowly, oh, so slowly, that it reminds you of the "time" coming in over the Western Union, at 12 M., so that all the passengers can gaze on the beautiful approach to our city, say that part from Seventh street, until you strike the granolithic, and John the porter, says, this is Wilmington, and we Wilmington people on the train thank heaven it is over, the view, I mean. And if you could sometime hear the comment, such as "no wonder they have chills and fever," and no wonder they have mosquitoes and flies," why don't they rake the dern hill down and get the dirt and filth out, sow it in flox, that is cheap enough;" Why one week's work on this big ditch would work wonders, and I will wager to say that it has not been cleaned in ten years, because I have counted the same old tin cans, bottles, cast off bedding, etc., for many a year, as a traveling man.

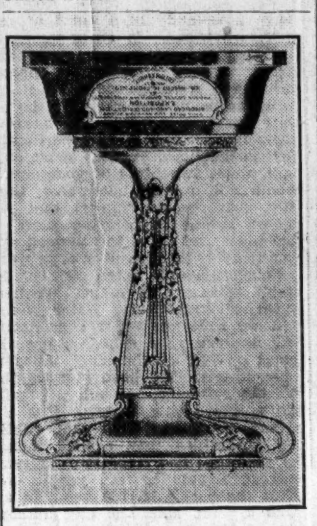
BEST SHORT STAPLE TO WIN

Beautiful Silver Trophy to be Awarded for Cotton in New York's Great Agricultural Show This Fall. It is Very Valuable.

New York, April 22.—The American Land and Irrigation Exposition—the first great land show to be held in New York city—will award the handsomest and most valuable prizes in the history of American agriculture next November. It awards $1,000 prizes for cotton, corn, wheat, oats, barley, hops and white potatoes, and $500 cash for the best apples.

Colonel Robert M. Thompson, of New York city, has donated a beautiful silver trophy to be awarded for cotton. The cotton cup stands two feet in height and weighs over 200 ounces in silver. Its lines are full of grace, and it represents a cotton plant with its white bolls.

The cup is to be awarded for the best yield per acre of excellent short staple cotton grown anywhere in the United States.



COTTON TROPHY.

This handsome silver cup valued at $1,000 donated by Colonel Robert M. Thompson, New York city.

The yield per acre from which the winning sample is chosen must be sworn to and duly attested by three witnesses of repute in the community. The sample should be sent prior to Nov. 3 to the American Land and Irrigation Exposition, Singer building, New York city, with all charges prepaid. The sample should be two pounds of short staple cotton, properly wrapped in compact form, with accompanying smaller quantity of loose cotton, protected by cloth wrapper.

The judges to make this award probably will be appointed by the President of the New York Cotton Exchange.

To win this valuable silver trophy offered by Colonel Thompson will mean honor and glory to the successful grower. It will mean that both the grower and the State in which he lives will receive such advertising as will be hard to secure in any other way. The particular district where the cotton was grown and the man who produced it will become famous, and land values in his district will increase, as a consequence.

MAXTON'S POPULATION.

Gain in Population Since 1910 Census Was Taken.

(Maxton Scottish Chief.)

According to the 13th census as given out Maxton's population was 1,321 May 1st, 1910. This is 17 less than the Scottish Chief's estimate, and covers the population within the contracted limits of the incorporation. In November Mr. McCormac, who took the May census, took the census again for the town and Graded School and found 1,442; a gain of 121 in the six months following the May census. The population in the town inside and outside of the corporate limits was 1,850. The population of Raeford is announced as 580; Lillington 380; Elizabethtown 117; Fayetteville 7,045; Hope Mills, No. 1, 964.

It's all my fault; it surely is; I oughter had a better mem'ry nor that.

Tambo—Well' I'm sorry.

Bones—Wat was dat I heard den? A factory whistle?

Tambo — Nossuh; merely a gemmen on a toot. He is in mournin' for one of de also ran candidates.

Bones—Since it was mentioned, aint we never goin' to have no factories here in dis town? Dat's one thing I can't understand.

Tambo—What you ask me dat same question for, again? Aint I told you once before why?

Bones—But we has so many natural advantages here.

Tambo—Yassah; and various disadvantages, too—some of dem animate. Dat's wat I say!

Bones—Human nature, nowadays, am singularly unappreciative.

Tambo—Ah, can dat pessimistic pucker and philosophic pap, and say off-hand wat you means, anyway.

Bones—Des dis! Knowin' dat one of dese here little candidates hadn't yet made no great name for hisself—packin' juries, et cetera, I thought to gib him a little experienced counsel and aid, and tol' him I was willin' to exten' him my help.

Tambo—Well den?

Bones—He chagrined me awfully by sayin' to dis effect: "Tanks! I expects to be 'lected, anyway—and den I'll help myself."

Tambo—Mr. Cooper am sure a bold man.

Bones—What he done now—started a new enterprise?

Tambo—Nossuh; but he up and spoke right in de Temple of Wisdom itself, de other night, about Wilmington's low freight rates. And I'be had one year right on de ground listenin' for a rumblin' eber since.

Bones—Wat am de difference between a Reformer and a Politician?

Tambo—Aint any.

Bones—Dere is. Dis! A reformer, speakin' generally, always promises things befo' 'lection dat aint eber done afterwards. A politician don' do neither—still he don promise.

Tambo—I see de Davy Tree Surgeons appear to hab plenty of work in town.

Bones—Well, dere's enough dead wood in dis burg to keep dem busy prunin' almost de balance of uere natural lives.

Tambo—Say, I know a secret. Shuh!

Bones—What is it, Tamby?

Tambo—Now don' put dis in de paper, but I hears as how de Snow Whites and Lord Fauntleroys has met and formed a collation.

Bones—A who?

Tambo—A collation, Bonehead!

Bones—You another Ivoryskull! Don' you know what a collation is? It means a great big free lunch. Wat you 'ntended to say was a coalition.

Tambo—Well I 'kno' it was som'thin' like dat.

Bones—But you ought to always kno' wat you're talkin' about, befo' sayin' it. S'pose you'd a-said cullusion, now; somebody would hab gotten mad.

Tambo—Well, dey had a collision too; dat is a man butt into dem dat dey dey didn't want. Dey oughtn't be so many words nearly alike, anyhow. I aint no Daniel Webster!

Bones—Wat am de combination's strong suit, anyway?

Tambo—Free Gas.

Bones—Are you very busy at de Aero Club dese days?

Tambo—Am we? A mos' important discussion. We is gwine to endorse de Prosecution of de Research to Ascertain whether de Original Report dat Mahomet's Sarcophagus was Transported to Heaben in a Curious way after his Deceasment, is Correct, or whether dat was jus' a Press Agent's Story, and de Old Codger was Really Planted in a Crab Apple Orchard in Aaraba. It sure am fascinatin'. Next week we take up: "Who Wrote Shakespeare, Bacon or him."

Bones—By de way, did you hear dat dis young men's progressive league was goin' to take up de question of beach fare?

Tambo—Don' wake me up, Bonesy don' wake me up. Let me dream, I beseech you. Dis is too good to be true, eben do it am de closed season for nightmares.

Saved His Mother's Life.

"Four doctors had given me up," writes Mrs. Laura Gaines, of Avoca, La., "and my children and all my friends were looking for me to die, when my son insisted that I use Electric Bitters. I did so, and they have done me a world of good. I will always praise them." Electric Bitters is a priceless blessing to women troubled with fainting and dizzy spells, backache, headache, weakness, debility, constipation or kidney disorders. Use them and gain new health, strength and vigor. They're guaranteed to satisfy or money refunded. Only 50c at R. R. Bellamy's.

What to Do for a Sickly Child—Trial Free

Many a mother has written thanks after following these suggestions

It has always been a mooted question just what to do with an ailing child, for mothers disagree and few doctors specialize in it. But this much is certain, that in the majority of cases faulty bowel movement is at the bottom of the trouble.

The first thing, then, to do with a complaining child is to give it a laxative, not a mere fruit-stew or such thing but a genuine, scientific laxative. Many are recommended but few have been found worthy. Among the latter none stands out more prominently than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which mothers in all parts of the country have used for a generation.

It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. No child will refuse it as it is not a bad-tasting and violent cathartic pill, but a mild, gentle, non-griping liquid. It has also tonic properties that strengthen and tone the little stomach and bowel muscles so that they begin to do their work naturally again. Mrs. Ella N. Williams of Wathena, Kas. and Mrs. Emma Blakenship of Bedford, Ind., always give their children Syrup Pepsin.

If you hesitate to get even a fifty cent bottle and do not care to ask your neighbor about it (who probably is a user of Syrup Pepsin), then write Dr. Caldwell and he will cheerfully send you a sample bottle free of charge, and in this way you can make a test without personal cost. Simply send your name and address to the doctor. A great many thousand mothers have had a free sample in recent years, gave it to the children according to directions and now have healthy, romping youngsters.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseaes for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell Building, Monticello, Ill.

The MEBANE LINE OF SPRINGS, MATTRESSES, PILLOWS AND COTS

Gives Complete and Lasting Satisfaction

"Majestic" or "Regal" Springs, two of our leaders, are perfect in construction and will last a lifetime. Absolutely smooth, no sharp points to tear, noiseless, don't sink down in the middle or sag at the edges and comfortably adapt themselves to every curve and movement of the body. For wood or iron beds. They are "honest all through"—full of genuine merit. Vastly superior to any other springs made.

Our "Kingsdown" Mattress is on a par of excellence with our springs. None better made at any price. Its uniform layers of sanitary white cotton felt make it light, soft and springy. Never loses its shape or gets mushy or lumpy in spots. Made to stand many years of constant use.

Prices within reach of all. Covered by the following

Unqualified Guarantee

Buy a "Majestic" Spring and a "Kingsdown" Mattress from your dealer. Sleep on them 60 nights. If at the end of that time you are not entirely satisfied, return them and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

BETTER STENOGRAPHIC SERVICE.

Did you ever notice that your stenographer does better work early in the day than she does toward night?

This is probably the reason: At the tip of each finger, close to the surface, is a sensitive nerve terminal.

Now, the constant pounding that is necessary to get action from the stiff, heavy keys of the ordinary typewriter soon tires her out. You can overcome this daily "three o'clock fatigue" by taking advantage of

MONARCH LIGHT TOUCH

Compare the Monarch with any other typewriter and note the difference.

Complete U. S. Census Figures for North Carolina

POPULATION OF NORTH CAROLINA

Detailed Figures Announced by U. S. Census Director Durand.

1910 AND 1900 COMPARED

Gains and Losses Shown in a Decade by the Various Cities, Towns, Villages and Townships Throughout State.

North Carolina's position in the front ranks of the southern states in regards to population has been greatly strengthened during the decade from 1900 to 1910.

Detailed population statistics of the state has just been issued by Census Director E. Dana Durand at Washington. They give the figures for every minor civil division and incorporated city.

The total population of the state is 2,206,287 for 1910, as against 1,893,810 in 1900, an increase of 302,477.

Unlike some of the northern and middle western states, the movement from the farming districts to the cities is not nearly as pronounced in this state.

The cities almost without exception show decided increases, in some instances as high as 100 per cent. Charlotte, with a population of 11,557 in 1890 and 18,091 in 1900, is returned with 34,014 in 1910, an increase in ten years of 5923. Wilmington had 20,976 in 1900 and now has 25,748, while Raleigh shows an increase of approximately 50 per cent, having 19,218 in 1910, as compared with 13,643 in 1900. Asheville is another city that prospered, having a population of 18,762, as against 14,694 ten years ago.

Durham, with 6679 people in 1900, is returned with 18,241 in 1910, an increase of nearly 200 per cent.

The census returns indicate that North Carolina is forging to the front as a manufacturing and mercantile state, while it is losing little as an agricultural state.

state, while it is losing somewhat as an agricultural state.

The detailed population by counties is as follows:

OTHER SIDE OF QUESTION AS TO SEWERAGE SYSTEM

llegos, among which is the right to lay and construct sewers in Wilmington; and, if the city builds its own system, the result will be two competitive systems. Nor could the city under the decisions of the State court, oblige the persons now connected with the present system to change to the city's proposed system; nor would the individual care to do so unless the city should bear the expense.

Sixteenth—Every newly constructed system has to be tested by use and experience. Laid to theories of construction, faults have to corrected as they develop, and the present system has stood the test and met this experience for 10 years. What assurance have you that a new system will do as well or any better? You have the fact as to this present system, and it is a matter of opinion as to the proposed new system. I propose to discuss later on certain objections some people make to the present system and show their want of justification.

Seventeenth—The fair-minded citizen will concede that it would have been a proper spirit for the corporate authorities to have said to the sewer company, at the outset: "We are about to build public sewers; we appreciate that you have built at great cost a system here; we all know that public ownership means private annihilation, since the city can run its own and regulate yours, or it means disastrous competition to operate two systems; we will take yours off your hands, in order to avoid such a situation, at a fair price, if it can be incorporated in our plans or be used as a sectional system for the area it covers; we will jointly appoint experts, let them determine upon the question of efficiency and value, and we will then abide their decision." This is what the sewer company proposed. This is what the city authorities would not do. The Aldermen and Audit and Finance Board directed the sewerage commission to build a new system. Neither board at the time had before them any plans or estimates of cost, and, with equal intelligence, as far as their information was concerned, they might have as consistently resolved to build a tunnel under the Atlantic Ocean — from here to Liverpool. The Commission had no discretion in the matter, although inclined to consider the incorporation of the present system, so they proceeded to have plans prepared regardless of the existing system. The Commission could not have gone much further in the matter, for the reascon, as already shown, there was not money enough to have built the system proposed, not even approximately.

Eighteenth—The question, after all, is one of public ethics and practical business. Any five men, who will approach its consideration intelligently and impartially, could adjust the matter in fairness to the sewerage company and to the interests of the city. If it is to be handled in a spirit of prejudice, and lack of reason, the city may repeat the experience of Mobile, which haggled and litigated for years, with the result that it did what it might have done more easily in the beginning—at far less cost—purchase a public service utility that it tried to supplant with the public one.

Nineteenth—The practical solution of this question would be to acquire the present system and utilize it as it exists. Then, take the money you have and enlarge your area of sewers to those streets where you have no sewers. I do not speak by authority, nor for my clients in the suggestion, but I believe an arrangement could be made with the sewer company to purchase its plant at a fair price, taking the notes of the city over a long period of time, and, with a gross income now of about $6,000, which could be doubled, if the city owned it, as the city could induce or require sewer connections that the company, as a private corporation, cannot compel. The sewer could be made to pay for itself. In other words, out of a possible 2,500 connections, the company now has only 960, whereas, the city, if it owned it, could enforce twice the number.

Personally, I favor building sewers, charging a special tax against property along the streets sewered, until such time as the tax pays for the sewers, and then making them free to the property along that line so paid for, but this might require special legislation. However, I still favor that the proceeds derived from the charge for use of sewers shall be applied to reimburse the cost of sewers, and, then, where paid for, that particular line should be thereafter free.

Objections to System Considered.

It is said this system is not adequate for the present and future demands upon it. No competent engineer experienced in sewer construction or knowledge of the art has expressed such an opinion. Sewers are seldom built in these days as one interconnected system.

They are built to what is known as the "Waring System," or separate system, each section being adapted to the particular area it covers. This system was built to such a design and can be utilized as a section or part of a more extensive system. No two engineers probably would build to the same grades, or use the same size pipes, or follow the same courses, in the construction of any system, but the object of a sewer is to dispose of the sewerage, in a satisfactory and sanitary manner, and the present system is doing its work well, at this time, without, even in pipes most used, carrying a third of its normal capacity, as recent tests, made by Mr. Hammond demonstrated. It is capable of carrying any sewerage to flow through it in the section it covers for an indefinite time.

It is said the pipes are too small, and ought to be of eight instead of six-inch size. Mr. Hammond shows that for length of pipes not exceeding 2,800 feet, the six-inch size is standard. No length of six-inch pipe in this system exceeds 2,466 feet. As Mr. Hammond puts it "It will be seen that while the eight inch pipe is permissible, that the six-inch size is more highly endorsed by the authorities." Eighty per cent of the sewers of Memphis are laid with six-inch pipe. In Brooklyn, said Mr. Hammond, calculating upon a population of 300 to 400 people to the acre, using the sewers, they lay eight-inch pipes, but here, where 50 to 60 people to the acre use a sewer would be the limit, even in time to come, the six-inch pipe is more desirable.

It is said the grades are not correct. Mr. Hammond shows in his report "that according to Colonel Waring, all of this six-inch pipe is laid on acceptable grades and most of it on excellent grades." He advises that 1,345 feet, out of a total of 101,918 feet, be relaid to improve the flushing in that particular number of feet of line.

It is said the present sewer pipes are not properly cemented. The late Mr. McRee, the city engineer, under whose supervision they were laid, in my presence said, in answer to a similar criticism, it was not true. Asked by Mr. Humphreys, at the conference at the Mayor's office, already mentioned, whether or not the joints should not be cemented absolutely tight, Mr. Hammond answered "Why, ideally, yes; but no cement has yet been found to make them so." The difficulty, he said, was not from what leaked out, as the least resistance to water was along the inner pipe, but it was from what leaked into the sewer. They act like tile draining, sucking the moisture from the earth and, in damp soil, endanger the sewers from being overflowed, but this difficulty would not occur to any appreciable extent in our dry soil.

It is said that "no light could be detected through the pipes, showing that the pipes are not laid in a straight line from manhole to manhole, but Mr. Waring, who, in his life time, was regarded in the first rank of engineers engaged in constructing sewers, and whose works are standard text books, curtly disposes of such objections by saying: "If we can see through the sewer, we have no reason to look through it, as it is working all right. If it is obstructed —unless the obstruction is close to the manhole—we cannot see it," and, says Mr. Hammond, speaking of the light being no test, "we must judge of their efficiency and value as sewers mainly by their carrying capacity, scouring effects of current, sanitary condition, etc.

"Again, the sewers coming into the mains at right angles (on streets running north and south) usually enter on slight curves in order to make the curves within the manhole slightly less in sweep. The practice was introduced by Colonel Waring, who considered it a great advantage."

It would prolong this article to comment upon all the objections cocksurredly voiced by thoughtless and prejudiced persons, who know nothing of the art of sewer construction and are not informed as to this system, but, after all is said, whether this is built to plans of Mr. Rudolph Hering designed to Mr. Waring's now accepted system of separate sewers, or whether they ought to have been built to the theories of inexperienced engineers, the fact remains that its object was to give sanitary sewerage to the section covered and that object is obtained as shown by the practical demonstration of the satisfactory working of the system. The fact that it is actually working satisfactorily, completely answers all theoretic objections.

As to the Water Works Intake.

The more serious objection to the present system, as to all sewers, emptying within the city limits into the river, is the danger of infection of our water supply at its intake at Hilton. The recent plans prepared under the direction of the sewer commission were rejected by the State Board of Health, as I am informed, principally because of its emptying the sewerage at Ann street, too near the intake of the water works.

The natural drainage, which sewers would follow, would run from Seventh street, perhaps in the southern part of the city from Tenth and Fifteenth streets, westwardly, to the river; then with a central sewer along the depression of McCumber's Ditch northward, to Smith's Creek, with sewers entering into this main, from Seventeenth southwestwardly and Tenth street easterly, then, as the city extends eastwardly, sewers would naturally be carried to Smith's Creek. To reverse these natural courses and carry the sewers southward along the southern limits of the city and there empty all of the sewerage into the river would entail now and hereafter an enormous expense, whereas, if the sewer commission had acted upon its engineer's advice to them, or, if not so advised, they had acted on their own initiative, and have carried the intake up the northeast branch of the river, all danger of water pollution would have been removed, the water problem solved and the sewerage plans simplified. Even if not a single sewer emptied into the river the danger of infection is not removed.

To my personal observation, within a few hundred feet of the present intake, the Angola Lumber Company has a series of closets on the same side of the river, used by its employees, the excreta of whose bodies is daily dropped into the river near the water intake of our water works. On the opposite side of the river, in a block or two of the intake, are three fertilizer factories, with another now building almost immediately across the river and, besides, the bilge water and sewerage of vessels unloading at these factories, the river at this point receives daily the excreta of employees working at these factories, wharves and vessels daily using the river for like purposes. River steamers, flat boats and vessels are dumping filth constantly into the river, and railroad trains pass over Hilton bridge, at the intake, and still further endanger our water supply. These conditions will increase, as the port develops, and, sooner or later, with or without regard to sewers emptying into the river, the public health will demand the removal of the intake. Theoretically, the water may be chemically good; theoretically, it analyzes pure when it comes out of the disposal plant, but who wants to drink it? It is the danger of infection and the menace to health that demands the removal of the water works intake. To take it three miles on a straight line northward would carry it about five miles up the river, at a cost perhaps of $60,000, but to build a sewer system designed to empty the sewerage way down the river would entail many times that amount, and then, we have not removed the danger, because of the direct use of the river as indicated. At Ithaca, N. Y., as I am informed, where they had pure water flowing from a mountain stream, unaffected by any sewerage from town or city above Ithaca, there were cast out on the snow cloths and the excrement from a typhoid patient some miles above the city. In spring time, the snow melted carrying into the stream the germs of typhoid, and in due course into the water pipes of the city. An epidemic followed. It was traced to this source.

The pipes were flushed, reservoirs scoured, but the following summer again an epidemic occurred. Finally, they concluded the germs had gotten into the pipes, were continuing there, flushing would not remove them, and the city had to take up and replace the old with new pipes, before the prevalence of typhoid was eliminated. After spending $350,000 for water works we are without drinking water which our physicians will approve, and, out of a possible infection of our water mains, we may repeat the experience and be driven to the desperate resort, because of infected mains, which flushing will not correct, of the city of Ithaca. Plymouth, Pa., having pure mountain water, because of a similar infection of its reservoir, had an epidemic, with eleven hundred cases, of typhoid fever.

The experts may say the sewerage of a population of 100,000 people could be emptied into the river without seriously polluting the water, but they do not deny that a single deposit of infected matter sucked into the intake by chance could infect the water supply; so, if objection be made to the sewerage plant, because it empties into the river, the answer is it is less expensive to remove the intake than to design sewers, reversing natural outlets, in order to get away from the intake; besides, if the sewers are removed, the danger from infection is not removed, when your water supply is taken in port, where employees of railroads, factories, business plants, river craft and ocean vessels, and the surface drains, use the river as a means of disposal for human excrement, animal manure, chemical waste, bilge water and city drains.

As to the Public Utility Law.

Now, the public utility law, which was recently passed by the legislature does not apply any more to Wilmington than to other cities in the State. As will be seen from its context, it does not compel the purchase of the sewer or prohibit the city from laying sewers on streets not occupied by the sewer company. It authorizes cities or towns upon a vote of the people to issue bonds to build lighting plants, water works or sewerage systems; and, secondly, as to existing systems, it provides, as follows:

"(e) But whenever in any incorporated town or city, which under this or by special act has been or may be authorized from the sale of bonds or otherwise to build, operate and maintain a public sewerage system, waterworks or electric or gas lighting plant, there shall have been constructed in said town or city by any private or quasi public corporation either water works, sewerage system, electric or gas plant, then in active operation and serving the public, which construction or operation was authorized by said town or city or by act of the General Assembly, and in the case of any sewerage system, the same has been laid by plans approved, at the time of construction, either by the state board of or county board of health, or both, then, before constructing any proposed public system of water works, or sewerage, or electric or gas plant, heretofore or hereafter authorized by law, along or upon the streets occupied by such private or quasi-public corporation, the town or city within which such utilities are located and owned, proposing to build any public system of like character shall, before undertaking to do so, first acquire either by purchase or condemnation, the property of such system already laid, operated and maintained by such private or quasi-public corporation, which is of like character. If said town or city cannot agree with the owners upon terms of purchase, then it may institute special proceedings to condemn the same to the public use, in the Superior Court of the county where the property to be condemned is located, making the owners and all parties having an interest therein parties defendant. The said town or city shall file its petition, setting forth the facts relied on, and within ten days after the service of a copy on them, the defendants shall file their answer, when the petition and answer shall be referred to the judge of the Superior Court, resident or presiding, who shall fix a day and place, at term or chambers, when he shall hear the matter, and, if proper cause is shown, he shall appoint three commissioners having expert knowledge of the construction, operation and financial value of such property sought to be condemned, one to be nominated by the petitioner and one by the defendant, whom he shall appoint unless good cause be shown why the person or persons nominated should not be appointed, and the two commissioners so appointed shall nominate the third commissioner, who shall be appointed by the judge, unless good cause be shown to the contrary, and, if within 20 days after their appointment, the two commissioners do not agree as to the third, then the judge shall appoint the third commissioner of his own selection. Such commissioners may be residents or non-residents of the State, but shall not be interested or connected with the subject matter or with either of the parties to the suit, directly or indirectly, and said commissioners, after being duly appointed and qualified, shall proceed to ascertain by evidence taken before them, if offered, and by personal inspection and examination, of the property, the fair value of the same, such fair value to include the cost or reproducing the same as it exists at the date of condemnation, less natural wear and tear incident to its previous use, and make their report to the said court. Either party may file exceptions to said report, within 30 days after being filed in court, and such exceptions shall be heard and determined by the resident or presiding judge thereof, who shall enter judgment thereon, as in other civil cases, and if the property be adjudged to be condemned, he shall direct the payment of the purchase price and the execution of all necessary transfer deeds. He shall make, in such cases, all orders and decrees essential to the protection of the rights of all parties concerned, and from his findings and judgment either party may appeal to the Supreme Court of the State."

Since the city papers and candidates have had much to say recently as to the bill relating to public utilities being "sneaked railroaded through the Legislature," I have taken the trouble to get the exact official record of the course of its passage. It was introduced in the House on Feb. 2, 1911, passed its first reading and was referred to the Committee on Towns and Cities. This Committee referred it back to the House with the recommendation that they referred to the Judiciary Committee. After this report, the House on February 9, 1911, recommitted the bill to the Judiciary Committee. On February 17, 1911, the Judiciary Committee of the House reported unfavorably as to the bill but favorably as to the substitute which it submitted. This substitute involved some slight changes made in the committee meeting and is the bill as passed. It passed its second reading in the House, on roll call, February 24, 1911; Ayes 96; Noes 0. It passed its third reading in the House on roll call, February 25, 1911, Ayes 113; Noes 0. Having passed the House it was sent to the Senate on February 27, 1911, where it passed its firts reading, on February 27, 1911, and was referred to the Judiciary Committee. After a favorable report from that committee it was put on its passage on March 1, 1911. The Preident of the Senate called attention to the fact that it was a State-wide measure, whereupon objection was made to its consideration on that day in order to give objecting Senators time to consider it, and the bill went over to the next call of the calendar. On March 2, 1911, the bill was called in the Senate and passed its second reading, on a roll call vote, Ayes 37; Noes 0. On March 3, 1911, it passed its third reading in the Senate on roll call, Ayes 42; Noes 0. On March 4, 1911, the bill was enrolled and ratified, having taken thirty two days to become enacted into law.

It could not have been more openly considered and it passed, after the most careful scrutiny, because it appeals to every open-minded man as equitable and just.

It seems so to hav impressed the people of Wilmington. The Commission Bill recently adopted by the voters of this city includes a section that incorporates Chapter 73, of the Revisal of the Laws of North Carolina, relating to Towns and Cities, and, as the public utility bill is a part of said Chapter 73, why the citizens, after both bills were published and commented on by the city press deliberately voted for both in that one incorporates the other.

It was a rule of action of a great man—"always be calm." Our community, as well as our press, are prone sometimes to get excited. The man who calmy reviews the facts will realize there is two sides to this sewerage question and that this act provides a means, through arbitration and expert knowledge, to adjust the difference, if wiser counsels may not prevail; and, involved in the controversy, is the equitable consideration due, if not to the company, at least to the bondholders who ventured to invest in this city to consruct a public utility, which the city had declined to provide, and which, since it was installed, has served the public health and public convenience. And it is serving them today. It has relieved the city in the past of spending many thousands of dollars for removing night soil, which it would have been obliged to spend, had not the plant been laid.

We talk of advertising Wilmington to induce capital to invest here. I know of no better way to proclaim to the financial world our contempt of invested capital than to make widley manifest the present attitude toward the sewerage company and its boudholders. Advertisement for capital will invite the inquiry as to its treatment when invested. We talk of waiting and asking the Legislature to repeal the law, or exempt Wilmington from its application. How think you it will strike the non-resident and impartial legislator, whose duty it is to preserve the credit of every subdivision of the State, when we ask to be exempted from the application of the law, which requires the city to refrain from annihilating a public service investment, which its citizens invited and the corporate authorities allowed, and which requires only that the City let it alone, buy it or condemn it, if it wants to condemn, at such price, as experts nominated by the respective parties and appointed by the Judge of the Superior Court may say (quoting the Act) is "the fair value of the same, such value to include the cost of reproducing the same as it exists at the date of condemnation, less natural wear and tear incident to it's previous use."

Kicked by a Mad Horse.

Samuel Birch, of Beetown, Wis., had a most narrow escape from losing his leg, as no doctor could heal the frightful sore that developed, but at last Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it completely. Its the greatest healer of ulcers, burns, boils, eczema, scalds, cuts, corns, cold-stores, bruises and piles on earth. Try it. 25c at R. R. Bellamy's.

A CARD.

Mr. Editor:—I desire to thank my friends through columns of your paper for the loyal support accorded me in the primary on Tuesday last, and assure them that if elected as councilman from the Fourth Ward at the coming election, to give, at all times, my best efforts in the upbuilding of this community. Without declaring a platform, I shall pursue such a course as will rebound to the best interest of Wilmington, and will at all times stand for the enforcement of law and the maintenance of order.

Respectfully,

FREE TO YOU—MY SISTER

Free to You and Every Sister Suffering from Woman's Ailments.

I am a woman.
I know woman's sufferings.
I have found the cure.

I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from woman's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourselves at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is safe and sure cure for Leucorrhoea or Whitish discharges, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors, or Growths; also pains in head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling on the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness, kidney, and bladder troubles where caused by weaknesses peculiar to our sex.

I want to send you a complete ten day's treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost, my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it, and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says—"You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy. It cures all old or young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually cures Leucorrhoea, Green Sickness and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in young Ladies, Plumpness and health always results from its use.

Wherever you live, I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this Home Treatment really cures all women's diseases, and makes women well, strong, plump and robust. Just send me your address, and the free ten day's treatment is yours, also the book. Write to-day, as you may not see this offer again. Address

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Interesting Sidelights of Washington and Congress as Seen and Described by "Red Buck" Bryant.

(By H. E. C. Bryant.)

Washington, April 22.—The capitol with its grand dome rests on Capitol Hill far away and above the busy commercial and social sections of the city. It is removed from the hurly burly of Pennsylvania avenue, Seventh and F streets and the hobble skirt parade of Connecticut avenue.

I live on Capitol Hill within a stone's throw of the capitol and know something of the life there. Most of my Washington friends reside near or frequent the capitol grounds.

The red bird that sings from a lofty perch on a magnificent elm that stands within 200 yards of the main entrance to the House office building is my neighbor in scarlet. From my window in Congress Hall Hotel I hear his love song these pretty Spring mornings. Last Sunday—Easter—he gave full vent to his joyous feelings in many a glorious outburst. His note was so clear and buoyant and feathers so red, so rich, that passers-by tarried to admire him.

In less than two minutes' walk from the cardinal's home is the Speaker's office, where that affable gentleman, loyal Democrat and eloquent speaker, Champ Clark, meets the newspaper boys and others. To the southeast stands the House office building, constructed at a cost of $4,000,000 for the Representatives. Due east is the $6,000,000 Library of Congress, one of the finest buildings in the country. Northeast, two blocks away, is the Senate office building, twin brother or sister to the one at the other end of the capitol.

In the House office building one finds some interesting persons. Uncle Joe Cannon, who has fallen from the seats of the mighty to the level of the common herd; Oscar Underwood, and other celebrities are there. At the library, where freaks and books abound, many happy hours are whiled away. In the Senate office building dwell the United States Senators.

It is among these scenes and personages that the active Washington correspondent spends his days observing, wondering, confabbing, and being pleasant.

In my Sunday stories—Under the Capitol Dome—I shall try to give more or less interesting sidelights on the life about the capitol.

I have learned to like the old place. The trees, the birds, the flowers, and the people entertain and delight me.

Years ago I discovered that it was far easier to get to a big man than it was his understrapper. That rule applies here. If you can get by the door man you are all right. To illustrate: I would rather undertake to approach Chairman Underwood, of the mighty ways and means committee than the yellow negro that acts as janitor to the committee rooms.

The men of Washington who do great things do not work behind closed doors. Now and then some insignificant upstart drifts in on a tidal wave of hysteria, comes to the capitol, struts like a peacock for a brief spell, bars his doors to callers on "busy days," and passes out, but does not count in the long run. But as a rule any man here worth seeing can be seen without the use of much red tape.

It is these things that I wish to write about from time to time.

Recently I have been doing some work for the New York World. Harry Dunlap, head of the World Bureau, turned me over to Charlie Albert Sunday. I was sent out to interview some of the newspaper men in Congress concerning their ideas about the Congressional Record.

"What would you do with the Record if you were managing editor of it?" I was to inquire.

One of the most interesting men in Congress, judging from newspaper accounts, is Victor Murdock, the auburn haired insurgent from Wichita, Kansas. Before he came to Washington he edited the Wichita Daily Eagle. The other day he introduced a bill to improve the Congressional Record. In consequence of these facts he was the first man I called on. I went to La Normandie where he lives, and asked the telephone girl to say that I desired an interview. Inside of two minutes he came down. There is nothing pompous about him. His fame as an insurgent has not turned his head. He gives you a warm hand, a hearty, sincere smile and talks like a real man. His face beams with good humor and most everything he says is worth printing.

"I would do three things to the Record if I had my way," said he. "Print a daily index of what it contains, make it an absolute record of what takes place on the floor of the House, and give it marginal sub-heads like the English documents have.

"But above all things I would demand the same degree of accuracy and veracity as the pure food law demands in a can of tomatoes. If matter that did not occur in the House is placed in the Record it should be labeled as much. The careful reader of the Record gets thousands of columns that the House never enjoys. Oftentimes he gets with it applause received by his congressman who never made a speech in his life."

From Mr. Murdock I went to Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan. At the door of Mr. Smith's beautiful home on Sixteenth street, I was met by a tall, lithe mannerly butler, a mulatto, and invited in. Soon Mr. Smith came and made me feel at home. He said that he would make the Record an exact transcript of what takes place in the two Houses.

Mr. Smith owns a paper in Grand Rapids.

I was told at Speaker Clark's home that he was at the capital. I had an idea that he was too much of a churchman to work on Sunday but I found him dictating a few personal letters. Neal, the red skinned negro who served as doorkeeper for Uncle Joe Cannon, greeted me. In the general reception room I met Mrs. Clark to whom I had been introduced before. She ushered me in to the Speaker.

"I am not a newspaper man now but an ex," said Mr. Clark, "but I do not know what I would do with the Record. At one time I thought I would leave out speeches that were not made on the floor but I have changed my attitude. Some of the best speeches ever made got into the Record without being discovered. I recall the great silver speech of Carlisle. That was a blanket speech."

I talked to Mrs. Clark on my way out. She is highly cultured and well educated. She likes literature better than she does society.

"How do you like being the wife of the Speaker?" she was asked.

"I enjoyed being the wife of the minority leader more," was the ready reply.

"But, I can't say why. I like that title—Minority Leader. There is something fascinating about it."

Finally, Mrs. Clark admitted that she thought the Southern love for the under-dog had something to do with it.

Mrs. Clark is almost as tall, if not altogether so, as her husband, and his constant companion.

On my way back to Congress Hall from the capital I saw another favorite of mine, a little news boy who waited to sell me a Washington Times. While we traded we saw a prowling cat catch an English sparrow. I had seen that cat many a time before. He spends much of his time in the small shrubbery about the capital grounds after birds and mice.

At the far end of the House Office building I saw Representative Underwood climbing in his automobile, a pretty little electric car. Two minutes later Representative Nicholas Longworth, with a mischievous smile on his face, entered the building. Soon Claude Kitchin, who is to be the best rough-and-ready debater in the House, appeared. On his arm was Collier, of Mississippi, a down-right Kitchin worshipper.

Such is life at the Capitol.

MME. LABADIE RECITAL.

Dramatic Interpretation of "Gossip" to be Presented Tuesday.

The Charleston, S. C., Evening Post of Wednesday of the past week has the following description of "Gossip," a dramatic interpretation of which will be given by Mme. Labadie on the evening of April 25th, in the Academy of Music, under the auspices of the Hospital Circle of the King's Daughters:

"Mme. Labadie whose wonderful interpretation of "Hedda Gabler" last Monday night came as a revelation to her hearers, will make her second appearance in the Freundschaftsbund Hall tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock when she will give a presentation of "Gossip." This is an intensely interesting play adapted from the Spanish drama, "Il Gran Galeto," which was written more than twenty years ago. The scene is laid in Madrid, the characters, with one exception that of Capt. Beaulieu, of the British legation, are Spanish, yet the theme and types represented are so universal that the action might take place in any city at the present time. The plot contains the story of how gossip wrecked a beautiful love between one Don Julian and his pure young wife, Donna Teodora, and their perfect comradship with Don Ernesto, a devoted friend of both. The husband hears his wife's name in the whisper of the common talk of the town, and at first indignantly refuses to listen, although he is forced to hear the repeated inuendoes and warnings of his friends. "The world and his wife are talking about it—you can't fight the world," Mercedes insists. "Yes, the whole world if need be" protests Don Julian, but quick as a flash comes the retort. "Ah—but you can't fight his wife." The truth of this assertion and the destructive power of gossip is proven too well in the tragic climax of one of the most forceful dramas of the present day. The play is full of delightful passages in which tears and laughter are closely linked, and the tense situations which fill the latter, afford an artist such as Mme. Labadie every opportunity for the expression of her remarkable dramatic powers."

and yet sleepless Hiram Scranton, of Clay City, Ill., coughed and coughed. He was in the mountains on the advice of five doctors, who said he had consumption, but found no help in the climate, and started home. Hearing of Dr. King's New Discovery, he began to use it. "I believe it saved my life," he writes, "for it made a new man of me, so that I can now do good work again." "A Cleaner, Healthier, More Beautiful Wilmington.

Comprehensive Planing for Small Towns, by John Nolen—Address Delivered at the Annual Meet- of the American Civic Association.

My plea is for the smaller places, the towns with a population ranging from 2,500 to 50,000. There are many misconceptions about city planning, but none is farther from the fact than the notion that comprehensive planing is only for the large cities. As a matter of fact, the reverse is nearer the truth. In big cities the conditions are fixed, unyielding, and at most it must content itself with relieving only the worst conditions.

But with smaller towns the case is different. To them comprehensive planning can render a big and lasting service, for there is scarcely anything in them that cannot be changed. Railroad crossings eliminated, approaches set right, water fronts redeemed, open spaces secured, and all sorts of well distributed public playgrounds can be outlined for future development. And all these elements, indespensable sooner or later to a progressive community, can be had with relative ease and at slight cost. The present town is only the Nucleus of the future city. We have given heretofore too much attention to caring for the mere wreckage of society, and too little toward establishing a better social order, which will reduce that wreckage. To cure is the way of the past—to prevent the divine voice of the future.

The smaller towns are important because of their great number. In 1900 there were over 1,700 with a population ranging from 2,500 to 25,000. How extensive are the interests of these widely distributed smaller cities, with more than ten million souls today and the number and proportion steadily and rapidly increasing.

The two important methods of town and city planning are:

I. Cities planned in advance of settlement.

II. Established cities replanned or remodeled to meet new conditions. The former method has great advantages, and many cities have been so planned. But after all it is seldom possible to foresee the future of a town from the very start, and the complex influences which determine the selections of streets and sites must usually be left to work out their natural results. When, however, a small population has been attracted to a town by natural causes and there are unmistakable indications that because of situation, climate and trend of trade and commerce, an important city is to be established, then it is entirely practicable intelligently to replan a town so as to provide for its future. There are scores of cities in this country with a population of 25,000 that will have 50,000 in a generation or less. The failure is right here, the failure to plan and replan to adjust and readjust. The emphasis needs to be placed less on the original plan and more on replanning and remodeling, provided action is taken in time. It is here that we fall short. Throughout the United States there are cities with relatively easy opportunities before them to improve their water fronts, to group their public buildings, to widen their streets, to provide in 20th century fashion for transportation and to set aside areas now considered indispensable for public recreation, and yet most of these cities have until recently stood listless, without the business sense, skill or courage to begin. In the development of city plans for these smaller communities, I wish to advocate three points.

1. The exercise of more forethought.

II. The use of skill.

3rd. The adoption of an appropriate goal or ideal.

First then, more forethought. One clear lesson of the census is the growth of cities, they move noiselessly from one class to another. With growth their requirement chang radically, but little or nothing is done to meet these requirements. Especially is this true of the construction of wide thoroughfares and the acquisition of land for public purposes.

Secondly, a greater use of skill and experience should be employed in planning and building small cities. Somehow, we are not yet very generally convinced of the value of a man who knows. Long ago John Stuart Mill gave expression to this idea when he said: "The people should be masters employing servants more skillful than themselves." A third requirement is the adoption of an appropriate goal. Changes are inevitable, and if these changes are unguided they are almost certain not to be good. The future should not be taken at hap-hazard. We should determine what we wish it to be, and then strive to bring it about.

These are three suggestions for smaller places are perfectly practicable and have already been adopted and acted upon by some American communities. The most astonishing thing about American town and city planning is the constant repetition of the same mistakes. Over and order again we see the same errors, the same foolish and costly departure from what is recognized as good practice. Our towns and cities are inert. If they were not, the smaller ones at least could be saved by foresight and skill from many of the mistakes from which the larger cities now suffer.

You Are Fooling Yourself

YOU may think that you are covering up your fault. You may imagine that no one knows you drink. You may even have an idea that you are stronger than other men—that you can give up drinking when you choose, but—you can't do it my friend. You need help. The drink habit is a disease and must be treated as such.

The Keeley Institute at Greensboro, N. C., will set you right. It will take away your desire for drink—it will kill your appetite for liquor. It will make a new man of you.

The treatment as administered by the Keeley Institute of Greensboro, N. C., is more than a cure for alcoholism. There is a personality behind the institution that will make you a new man morally—healthful environments that will build you up physically, and put you back into the same good condition you enjoyed before you started drinking. Four weeks of treatment here at Greensboro will give you new ideals and inspirations—the strength, the energy—the will to maintain your proper place in the world.

We have helped thousands of men in a worse plight than you are. We have brought joy into thousands of homes. We can help you. Write us to-day. Don't let anything deter you. Now is the time and your communication will be treated in strictest confidence.

NORTH CAROLINA MAN CURED OF AN OLD SORE OF LONG STANDING BY THE USE OF THIS GREAT REMEDY

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., Jan. 29, 1911

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.,

DEAR SIRS:

In the fall of 1904 I had an attack of Typhoid Fever which lasted five months, and when I got well of the fever a bad sore had formed on my leg. I went to a doctor and he healed it up for me but it was not long before it broke out again, this time much worse than before. I tried salves and other external applications, but nothing did it any good until a friend recommended S. S. S. to me. I decided to give it a trial and commenced its use at once. I took it regularly and according to directions for a while, and to my delight this great medicine made a perfect and permanent cure of the old sore.

Before taking S. S. S. I would have to quit work, and so painful did the place become at one time that I was compelled to stop work for seven weeks, and even when I returned to my business could do little more than hobble about. All my friends and acquaintances have noticed not only the fact that I am well of this old ulcer, but my general health is better in every way, all of which was brought about by the use of S. S. S., which I consider the greatest of all blood purifiers. I am now 58 years old, and although it has been a number of years since S. S. S. cured me, there has never been the slightest symptom of a return of the sore. I gladly recommend S. S. S.

716 Mulberry St. R. H. CHURCH.

The above letter came to us unsolicited. Mr. Church is just one of the many thousands who have used S. S. S. successfully in the cure of an old sore. Like a host of other sufferers he used this medicine without our knowledge, tested it thoroughly, and when he found it to be a remedy of real value he voluntarily endorsed it in this public manner, in order that he might help others to find relief from the suffering he endured for so long.

Every old sore is caused by some kind of impurity or poison in the blood. This infection of the circulation may come as the result of a generally disturbed condition of the system, or it may be brought about by the absorption into the circulation of germs bred by a spell of fever or other debilitating sickness, or the blood may be harboring an inherited taint. But whatever the cause of bad blood the sore cannot heal until the circulation has been entirely cleansed and purified.

S. S. S. cures old sores because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers; it goes into the blood and removes every trace of the cause. When the blood has been purified there is no longer any inflammatory matter or infectious impurity to irritate the place; then nature causes a quick and natural healing of the ulcer. This is a simple way to cure an old sore, but it is the only way because in this manner the fibres and tissues of the infected flesh are strengthened and made healthy, and when they are knitted and joined together there is no further irritation, and the place fills in with firm, healthy flesh. Under the purifying and tonic effects of S. S. S. the system is built up, and those whose constitutions have been weakened by the drain of an old ulcer will experience a general betterment of health. We have a special book on Sores and Ulcers which we will be glad to send to any who wish it. Our physicians will also furnish any medical advice desired. No charge for either the book or advice. S. S. S. is for sale at drug stores.

PREPARED BY A PHYSICIAN.

Recommended by the Medical Profession.

The best, safest and perfectly harmless treatment for dyspepsia and diseases of the stomach and intestines, is prepared and presented to the public by Saiz de Carlos, a physician, surgeon and pharmaceutist of undoubted standing and highest repute. This remedy, gives prompt relief in all cases of disorder and disease of the digestive functions, provided there be no incurable organic deterioration.

Physicians who have prescribed Stomalix, as the sole medicine for their patients in dyspepsia and other stomach troubles, report that cases of thirty years' standing have readily yielded to this treatment.

Stomalix makes a healthy stomach, capable of performing its work unaided. It is not a mere stimulant, plunging the patient into the horrors of a drug habit.

Stomalix is beneficient in its action, relieving pain, and toning the entire system—it is good for the youthful and the aged. It corrects the ailments of children. Sold by all Druggists.
